HOUSE TOLD OF STRIKE MISERY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Coal operators of Western Pennsylvania, particularly the Pittsburgh Coal Company, were arraigned today in bitter speeches by two members of the House, Florello H. LaGuardia, of New York City, and John J. Casey, of Wilkes-Barre, as responsible for the bituminous coal strike and its attendant misery and lawlessness.

Casey, holding the floor for an hour, demanded an immediate congressional investigation. He charged that coal and iron police are waging "a vicious campaign" for the destruction of the United Mine Workers of America. No matter from what angle the situation was approached, said Casey, one arrived sooner or later at the doorstep of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

"OUTRAGE"—LA GUARDIA

LaGuardia, who recently made a tour of the strikers' camps in the Pittsburgh district, charged the operators with assuming an "extra-territoriality, which not even a sovereign state is granted under our constitution," and demanded Federal intervention to "put a permanent stop to these outrageous conditions."

The Senate heard today a letter from Judge J. M. Langham, of Indiana, Pa., to Senator David A. Reed, urging a Senatorial investigation of conditions in the strike regions. Judge Langham, author of an injunction against various activities of the strikers, said it was only a temporary instrument and that no hearings had been asked by the defendants. He denied that he had restricted charities.

DEMANDS INQUIRY

LaGuardia called for an inquiry into the strike either by the House or Senate.

"Whether in Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio or West Virginia, the terrorism and brutality of mine owners and their agents must cease," he said. "The custom of permitting mine owners to uni-

TELL POLICE OF MISTREATMENT

Anna, 11; Josephine, 10, and Mary Wociechoski, 9, told police how their mother had been mistreated by their father before the officers arrived. She was frequently abused, they said. The trouble started yesterday when Wociechoski became incensed at his wife lending towels to a neighbor.

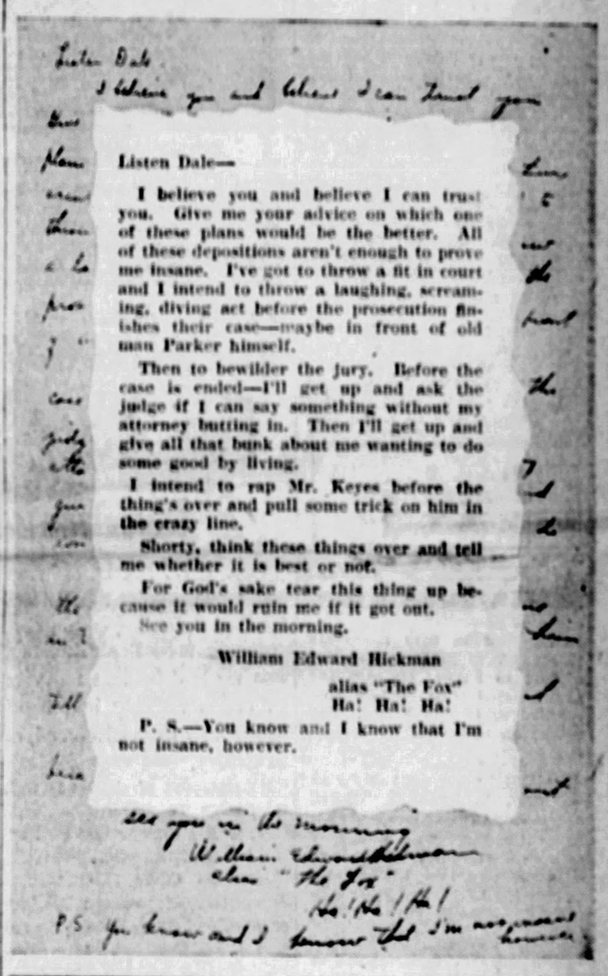
ANOTHER WITNESS

Little Helen, 2, youngest of the family, was in the room where her father first attacked her mother. From the stories told by children and neighbors, police learned, they said, that Wociechoski had been drinking heavily for several weeks and had frequently threatened to shoot his wife.

Intercepted Note Ace Against "Fox"

An "ace" held by the prosecution in the trial of William Edward Hickman, slayer of Marian Parker, to prove Hickman sane is a letter written by him to Dale Budlong, a fellow prisoner in the county jail at Los Angeles, and intercepted by officers. It follows:



Listen Dale—

I believe you and believe I can trust you. Give me your advice on which one of these plans would be the better. All of these depositions aren't enough to prove me insane. I've got to throw a fit in court and I intend to throw a laughing, screaming, diving act before the prosecution finishes their case—maybe in front of old man Parker himself.

Then to bewilder the jury. Before the case is ended—I'll get up and ask the judge if I can say something without my attorney butting in. Then I'll get up and give all that bunk about me wanting to do some good by living.

I intend to rap Mr. Keyes before the thing's over and pull some trick on him in the crazy line.

Shorty, think these things over and tell me whether it is best or not.

For God's sake tear this thing up because it would ruin me if it got out.

See you in the morning.

Spread of Fever By Milk Feared

AN ANONYMOUS British patriot has given $500,000 pounds to be held by Baring Brothers for many years, interest compounded and accumulated and the total used finally to diminish Britain's debt.

One dollar placed at compound interest when Christ was born would now pay the debts of the whole world, public and private, and leave plenty over. It is a fascinating idea. But Britons directly or indirectly will pay the compound interest on the 500,000 pounds. You cannot make something out of nothing, compound interest, or anything else.

LINDBERGH possesses an admirable style, which is the absence of any effort at style, the style born in a man of power. Cromwell possessed it, no words wasted, nothing important omitted.

DESCRIBING an ancient fortress on a Haytian mountain top 3,000 feet high, flying low Lindbergh saw heaps of antiquated cannon balls, piled row on row and told how the Negro king, George Christophe to prove the perfect discipline in his army, "marched an entire company over one of the precipitous walls," to death.

THE legend is easily believed, for military and religious discipline accomplish miracles, besides making people believe in them. Jewish historians tell of a pretended Messiah, long after the coming of Christianity, who finally came to believe in himself and ordered a host of his followers to walk with him on the water separating Europe from Asia. They, believing, followed and were drowned with him.

IN 1910 George B. Shaw wrote Tolstoi, "God does not yet exist, but there is a creative force constantly struggling to evolve an

The ballot boxes had been held back for use in local election fraud prosecutions, District Attorney S. H. Gardner told McGrain. These

LINDY, ON LAST LEG OF FLIGHT, OVER CUBA

By International News Service.

HAVANA, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, en route from Port au Prince, Haiti, to Havana on the last leg of his Spanish-American good-will flight, passed over Camaguey City, Central Cuba, at 11:15 o'clock local time. Camaguey City is about 300 miles from Havana.

Lindbergh was reported to be making splendid time. When he passed over Camaguey City he had covered more than half the distance from Port au Prince to this city. Reports to the Cuban Telephone Company here placed the flier one hour ahead of his schedule.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 8.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off for Havana at 6:35 a. m. today.

He expects to arrive at Havana late this afternoon.

After the take-off Lindbergh circled the field then turned towards Port Au Prince, over which he flew, leading a detachment of six marine planes. After circling the city Lindbergh flew back to the field which he circled at a low altitude, meanwhile waving his hand from the window of his plane's cockpit. After his farewell demonstration he turned his plane towards Havana and was soon lost to view in the morning mists off the coast line.

He intended to fly along the coast for 20 miles before crossing the 60-

CHILDREN TURN ON GAS

Ten persons were overcome by gas fumes in the residence of Richard L. Harbart, in O'Neil boulevard, Fawcett plan, McKeesport, yesterday. Children playing in the basement of the house are believed to have turned the gas high in the water heater, filling the house with fumes. The picture shows Mrs. Harbart and her three children.

MRS. MYRTLE SHANKS

The arrival of Mrs. Myrtle Shanks, a sister-in-law of Harbart's, who lives nearby, probably saved the lives of the victims. Having had an appointment with Mrs. Harbart Tuesday morning, Mrs. Shanks called at the Harbart home. She dragged the victims outside the house and summoned a physician.

OVERCOME WHILE SLEEPING

Roy Price with his wife and two children, Marcella and Roy, were overcome on the second floor of the house. They were also rescued by Mrs. Shanks. Miss Rose Martin, 21, and Marcella Chotiner, 14 (inset), were treated at the McKeesport Hospital. Lawrence Chotiner, 8, who was visiting the Price children, was also overcome.

FOX SLINKS AS PARKER TESTIFIES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Perry M. Parker, who paid $1,500 ransom for the mutilated torso of his little daughter, Marian, saddened and hushed a crowded courtroom when he appeared today as a prosecution witness in the sanity trial of William Edward Hickman, confessed murderer of the child.

Hickman sat slumped in his chair motionless and with head slightly bowed while the state produced his crime weapons, the ransom money and followed this up with the dramatic appearance of his victim's father. The defendant apparently avoided seeing Parker in the witness chair, never turning his head the slightest in that direction.

Parker was called upon to testify but briefly. He identified letters and telegrams he received from the kidnaper, the bills he paid as ransom to the defendant, and identified Hickman in the words: "He was the man who took the money."

The prosecution rested its case as recess was ordered after putting on the stand one final witness after the slain girl's father had testified.

Immediately after a 10-minute court recess the defense announced that it would offer no rebuttal testimony and the trial was adjourned to 2 p. m. when the closing arguments will be begun.

executive organ of God-like knowledge and power."

Every human born represents that effort to produce good, according to Shaw. He says the modern conception of God surrounded by inferior beings, "like a Russian nobleman," is barbarous.

DARWIN never went as far as that, in evolution. Shaw, who says, "A God of love could not be at the same time a God of epilepsy and cancer," may have a vague hope that himself represents the latest, and fairly satisfactory type of Divine evolution.

TEMPORARY imperfection, in a developing race, or a building under construction, does not mean incompetency. In its creator Shaw would be surprised to see himself, now, as he looked 7 months before he was born. That dreadful embryo was a necessary prelude to the perfect Shaw. And so it may be with our embryonic civilization, its injustice, poverty, misery and disease.

THE Men's Church League in New York asks, "What is the matter with our churches?" Disturbed by the fact that not one convert was made last year in 31,394 churches, one-third of all the Presbyterian, Northern Baptist and Methodist Episcopal churches in the country.

THE figures, based on careful study of the three churches' official year books, show that 2,389 Presbyterian churches made not one convert, 500 others made one convert each.

J. Campbell White, presiding at the Church League luncheon, said energy used on foreign missions should be applied at home. The Rev. J. Earle Edwards, Baptist, blamed the trouble on "red tape, sectarian organization, theology, jealously, everything but Jesus Christ and His Spirit."

There is also the competition of radio, automobiles, etc. Men are attracted by what interests them. Billy Sunday should resume operations.

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY American cities having over 30,000 population spent on public schools, in 1926, $907,000,000, one-third of their income. That is called "a great deal of money," but it is little considering that the country's future is in the public schools and the amount spent for education is only $6.90 per capita in big cities—less than the amount spent for chewing gum, cigarets, ice cream soda and similar American necessities.

A country that can wisely spend three billions for automobiles in a year, might spend twice that for education.

OUR State Department has signed an arbitration treaty with France. The treaty recognizes the Monroe Doctrine, which is satisfactory. But best and only permanent recognition of that doctrine will be found in adequate defense and preparation, plenty of airships and submarines.

FRANCE resents our suggestion about outlawing submarines, the weapon most important to this nation, next to airplanes. The French are logical, not "sloppily" sentimental.

'HARMONY' BELIEVED ON ROCKS

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—According to a dispatch sent to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and the Harrisburg Patriot by J. Bart Campbell, Washington correspondent of the two newspapers, Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, and Senator-elect William S. Vare have come to a parting of the ways as a result of the wrangle over the recount of Pennsylvania ballots by the Waterman sub-committee.

Taking exception to the manner in which they were denied greater representation in the committee room during the initial count of Allegheny County ballots yesterday, friends of Vare are holding Senator Reed responsible, due to the dominance of his associates on the committee, it is declared.

The dispatch goes on to say that Representative John M. Morin, of Pittsburgh, is now being groomed by the Vare group to oppose Senator Reed in the Pennsylvania primaries for renomination.

Vare, in a long-distance telephone call with his advisers here from Florida, expressed full approval of the action of his lieutenants in declining to take further part in the recount proceedings.

Salient paragraphs in the dispatch follow:

"Bill Vare and Dave Reed have come to the parting of the ways.

"For a number of weeks, the Vare forces have suspected that they were being double-crossed by friends of 'Dave' Reed.

"Senator Reed of Pittsburgh has been conspicuously absent from the councils held by the Vare forces.

"Neither from the senior senatorial senator from Pennsylvania nor the Mellons, which he represents, was any encouragement offered that there might not be a repetition of the factional scrap such as was staged between Republicans of Pennsylvania in the Pinchot-Alter fracas.

"Congressman John M. Morin of Pittsburgh left here for Philadelphia last night to confer with Vare leaders to explain the entire situation. He also was making a bid for support in the fight that he is about to make as an opponent of Senator 'Dave' Reed, who already has announced his candidacy for re-election."

Sues Nicola For Pact Breach

George W. Nicola, clubman and president of the Nicola Lumber Company, with offices in the Farmers Bank Building, was made defendant today in an action alleging breach of contract by Cora Richmond, of Sewickley.

No statement of claim was filed, the records in the Prothonotary's office merely showing that legal action had been instituted.

Attorneys Oliver K. Eaton and Jacob Shulgold, counsel for the plaintiff, declined to discuss the nature of the case, but said a statement of claim would be made later.

La Guardia placed the blame for what he described as the "unstable conditions" in the coal industry upon the mine owners, declaring that in no way could the miners or the miners' union be held responsible.

"The cut-throat competition which prompts this organized and systematic campaign of wage reduction is entirely the fault of the operators themselves," he continued. "The question of production is likewise due to the waste and bad business management of the coal industry."

He said he conceded that the soft coal industry was unstable, that keen competition existed, and that output exceeded present demands.

cases have not come to trial, but the District Attorney said the county would relinquish the boxes to the Senate or turn them over to a committee which the Senate might send here.

The registration books are of the first six districts, First Ward, and the first 15 districts, Second Ward, Clairton. These had been retained at the time other records were impounded and forwarded to Washington, because they were needed in connection with a special bond election in Clairton March 8, 1927.

McGrain was told these books also would be sent to Washington or placed at a committee's disposal here, as the Senate might decide.

McGrain also inquired about a missing ballot box of the Second district, First Ward, Pittsburgh, and was informed it had never been found. This box, supposed to have been in custody of former Alderman A. M. Maloney, disappeared.

LAY COAL OFFICE FIRE IN GAGE TO ROBBERS

PHILIPPI, W. Va., Feb. 8.—Robbers are blamed for a fire which wiped out the general store of A. L. A hole was found in a rear door of the store believed to have been made by thieves entering the place.

POLICEMAN KILLS WIFE BEATER

After threatening to kill his wife and battling with a policeman late last night, Peter Wociechoski, of 124 South Twenty-fifth street, was shot and killed by Patrolman John Scanlon in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards near South Twenty-fifth street.

Coroner J. W. McGregor, following a report by Dr. J. W. McMeans, who performed an autopsy on the dead man and a conference with Mrs. Wociechoski, ordered Scanlon held in $2,500 bail for the coroner's jury.

Wociechoski returned home intoxicated about 9 o'clock and started a quarrel because his wife had given some towels to a neighbor.

Neighbors summoned police, and when Scanlon entered Wociechoski stood with his hands in his pockets. His wife warned that her husband was armed and when Wociechoski refused to take his hands from his pockets the officer attempted to search him. They scuffled, then the man broke loose and fled.

In the street, Wociechoski again broke away, and fled to the railroad yards. There he was shot by the policeman, when, the latter says, Wociechoski attempted to draw a revolver.

The bullet entered the back, took an upward course and lodged under the heart, indicating it had first struck the ground.

Scanlon, after sending the victim to the hospital, surrendered at the South Side Station. Police found a revolver in the mud, near where the man was shot.

According to neighbors, Wociechoski had been drinking heavily, and his wife supported the four children by working as a school janitress. The children are Anna, 12; Josephine, 10; Mary, 9, and Helen, 2.

ASK QUICK ACTION

Dr. Conover mentioned the 6,000 cases of typhoid fever at Toronto, Canada, blamed on milk. The commissioners took no action on the request for money.

URGES INSPECTIONS

Rigid inspections were declared necessary to guard the purity of the milk distributed in Pittsburgh and some of the third class cities and boroughs, but 35 dairies were said to be without inspection—an epidemic-inviting situation.

Dr. Conover said the $5,000 was to form the nucleus of an inspection system to cover the uninspected districts which would contribute a share of the expense based on their populations—about 5 cents a person a year.

The first step, he said, would be to secure the proper laboratory facilities and to employ inspectors, skilled in the scientific treatment of milk, who are familiar with examination of herds, the physical environment of the cattle and the care of utensils. In second class townships the State Health Board would share in the pro rata expense. Many of these smaller communities have now no protection of their milk supply, it was pointed out, and are in constant danger of epidemics.

"A unified system of inspection is the only measure that can be established under which the Pittsburgh metropolitan district may hope for protection from impure milk," said H. B. Steele, secretaary of the District Dairy Council. "While our organization and the milk dealers and shippers are working for the same object and last year made 45,000 bacterial determination tests in our laboratories, there is no method that will effectually check the danger except absolute co-operation of every community in the county."

CHOIR GIRL SCALES OPERA PEAK

HAILED AS ANOTHER FARRAR

By PEARL GROSS,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—That little southern girl, Grace Moore, who swung her school books down the main street of Jellico, Tenn., won world-wide fame when thousands of people listening to her debut as the newest prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, stood up and shouted "brava, brava!"

At the close of "La Boheme," in which Miss Moore sang the leading role of Mimi, the audience comprising some of the foremost musical critics of the world, rose as one man and cheered until the rafters of the famous Opera House echoed and re-echoed the sound.

Tears streaming down her cheeks, lovely Miss Moore stepped before the footlights and bowed. The applause grew absolutely thunderous until the young singer was overwhelmed. Turning to the delegation of Tennesseeans present, she sobbed as she said:

"It was of you, all my Tennessean friends, of whom I thought in this hour of triumph. Your attendance here today gave me courage. All through my role, I thought of the people down there in Tennessee and how proud they would be. I was not nervous after that, although I admit this was a terrible strain."

It was, indeed, one of the most grueling and tense times in the life of any singer. The debut in the Metropolitan Opera Company, the goal of every singer. So many eyes turn towards it. But so very few make the grade.

Miss Moore sang the two most important arias, "My Name Is Mimi" and Mimi's dying scene in the last act, as "it has never been sung before," according to one of the directors of the Metropolitan company.

BLAMED ON STRIKE'S FRIENDS

Burning of two houses last night and a number of attacks on non-union miners employed by the Republic Iron and Steel Company mines at Russellton were blamed on union sympathizers by coal and iron police.

"Our employes are not safe on the public highways day or night," declared officials of the company this morning.

One of the houses burned was the property of Joseph Babil, the first man to desert the union and return to work under armed guard. He feared the wrath of his neighbors when he returned to work and two details of heavily-armed deputy sheriffs on duty at the Republic mines mounted guard while his furniture was moved into a company house in the "patch" at Russelton No. 2.

He has been working about 10 days, and on his way to and from the mines he has been guarded, along with other non-union men living in the "patch." This morning when he passed along the union picket line one of the deputies told him of his loss.

Later, when being questioned by state police, he said he was afraid to go to the scene alone and arrangements were made for him to go this afternoon in the company of armed deputies.

The other house burned was at Curtisville. It was unoccupied and owned by the Ford Collieries Company. The Ford mines have been shut down since the union men walked out last April, but it is rumored that they will be started on a non-union basis about the middle of next month.

The Brackenridge fire department answered the Russellton alarm, and a dozen or more volunteers were bruised and shaken up when the truck ran off the road in a dense fog. The injured men were members of the Pioneer Hose Company. The truck was badly damaged.

Margaret Dolgos, 6, of 1418 McCrea way, North Braddock, has been crying for her father, Michael Dolgos, 33, Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, who disappeared after drawing two weeks pay from the railroad two years ago. Today she again appeared at the bureau and implored Mrs. Ida Forsaith, policewoman, to find her husband as her little girl has been crying for her father ever since he disappeared.

"FOX" FINDS HOPE -:- IN OSCAR WILDE'S -:- POEM OF HOPELESS

WILL "FOX'S" FEET "DANCE UPON THE AIR?"

William Edward Hickman, as he sits in his Los Angeles cell, has turned from the Bible to the reading of newspaper accounts of himself and perusal of "The Ballad of Reading Gaol," by Oscar Wilde, English poet, who wrote it while in prison. The "Fox" seems, perversely enough, to find solace in Wilde's description of the cell bars. Inset is a verse from Wilde's poem.

THE "FOX'S" VICTIM

Above is Marion Parker, the child Hickman slew and for whose murder he is being tried, and at left is Oscar Wilde, whose verses he seems to enjoy.

VERSE FROM ST. LUKE

Did Hickman lose hope when he read the above verse, in fear that he would not be admitted to the Kingdom of Heaven?

Lure Girl With Job Offer

Lena Beller, 17, 2221 Sylvan avenue, McKeesport, left her home Monday with a man who represented himself as Dr. J. E. Henry, of Connellsville, Pa., and efforts of Connellsville police to find a trace of her or "Dr. Henry" have proved futile. Henry is said to have offered the girl attractive wages to care for his infant child.

According to the girl's mother, Lena met "Dr. Henry" at McKeesport Y. M. C. A., where she was employed as a waitress. He told her he was a dentist, was estranged from his wife, and that the infant needed a mother's care. He promised her $20 a week for her services.

The girl left with Henry Monday against her mother's wishes, and when Mrs. Beller did not receive word of her daughter, she became alarmed and sent her son to Connellsville to search. Police there informed him that there was no "Dr. Henry" living in the city.

Will Advises U. S. 'Sign Up Enemies Not Friends'

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 8.—America and France signed a treaty that they wouldn't fight each other. Now, if we could just sign one with some nation that there is a chance of having war with, why it would mean something. This treaty is too much like New Hampshire signing one with Arizona.

Will Rogers.

The four babies we want to get one with is England, Japan, Mexico and Nicaragua.

Yours for a better understanding with our enemies than with our friends.

Policeman Fired for 'Tip Off'

It doesn't pay to "tip off" women of the underworld, especially if the "tipsters" happen to be city patrolmen.

Patrolmen Elmer Hamscher and John J. Bauer, attached to Central Station, found this out today. They were recommended for dismissal by the police trial board.

The arrest of Julia Marlow, 24, and Amanda Greely, 23, both "city," on morality charges was their undoing. At a Morals Court hearing last week, Julia made the remark that "she didn't see why she had been 'knocked off,' as she had treated the patrolmen nice." Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh started an investigation, and suspension of the patrolmen followed.

Both patrolmen were assigned to the Sixth street and Penn avenue night beat. The Marlow woman "squealed" and informed Walsh that she had given Patrolman Hamscher whisky and money to let her solicit in Sixth street.

P. J. SULLIVAN ANNOUNCES

Alderman P. J. Sullivan of the Sixth Ward, this afternoon formally announced his candidacy for Congr. in the Thirty-fourth district against Congressman John M. Morin.

His announcement came on the heels of a meeting at which the Republican chairmen of the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Fifteenth Wards, comprising the district, petitioned him to enter the field and pledged their support.

President of Council James F. Malone, it was announced, will direct the Sullivan campaign, with Representative M. J. Mudowney as vice chairman, Frank J. Holleran as secretary and John W. Orie as treasurer.

NAME GLASS CO. RECEIVERS

H. H. Burchinal, J. H. Beale, Jr., and Alfred Martin were appointed by Federal Court as receivers for the C. L. Flaccus Glass Company, Tarentum, following the filing of an equity suit by the Diamond Alkali Company of West Virginia, and J. W. Wilson, New York.

Assets of the company, according to the bill of complaint, total $1,187,239.35 with liabilities of $475,000. The company is unable to meet outstanding obligations, it is set forth, and receivers are necessary to protect the assets from threatened suits by creditors.

The Diamond Alkali Company has claims of $17,834.96 and Wilson claims of $9,000 against the Flaccus company.

GRACE MOORE

From the church choir in Jellico, Tenn., Grace Moore, soprano, sang and danced her way through the Broadway musical comedies and revues, finally abandoning them to study for grand opera roles. Yesterday, at a special performance of "La Boheme," she made her debut before a crowd well filled with native Tennesseeans. She sang "Mimi" and sang it so well that her future seems assured.

330 MORE GET MOTHERS' AID

FINE DRY AGENT, FOUGHT POLICE

J. B. Lewis, 36, a Federal prohibition agent, of Park avenue, Ben Avon, was fined $10 by Magistrate George H. England in Central Police Court today as a result of an altercation with Patrolman Arthur Mechler at a downtown fire the night of January 31.

Lewis testified that he was on his way to prohibition headquarters and was halted by the officer when he attempted to pass through the fire lines. Arrested, Lewis said he was beaten by the officer.

Patrolman Mechler placed the blame for the trouble on the prohibition agent. He said Lewis fought with him, and tore his badge off his coat.

BEVERLY HEIN

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hein, of Chicago Heights, left their home for 30 minutes. When they returned they found the building in flames. Their daughter, Beverly, 4, was dead in the ruins. Police believe she was attacked by a moron, who then fired the home to hide his crime.

THUGS HOLD UP MAN IN HOME

Forcing their way into his home in the heart of the downtown district early this morning, four armed men robbed Walter Beaber, of 15 Scott place, of $5 and escaped in an automobile after threatening him with death if he notified police. Beaber resides in the rear of Penn avenue near Seventh street.

The men drove up in front of his house in an automobile and one of them knocked at the door. When Beaber opened the door a man forced his way in, followed by his companions. While one man watched Beaber, the others searched the small dwelling and took the $5 from a pair of trousers.

Dragged into an alleyway in Fernanda street and manhandled by three highwaymen early today, Michael Scamero, of 508 Wylie avenue, was robbed of $120.

Sore throat while you wait

Working in stuffy quarters, sleeping in over-heated homes, mingling with crowds and using appliances that others constantly use, people run an almost constant risk of a cold or sore throat—or worse.

At the first sign of either, use Listerine, the safe antiseptic, full strength. Gargle with it repeatedly. Rinse your mouth with it. Employ it occasionally as a nasal douche.

These simple measures may be the means of sparing you a trying—and possibly—a costly and painful siege of illness. In thousands of homes Listerine has checked colds and sore throats before they had a chance to become serious.

Being antiseptic, Listerine immediately attacks the countless disease-producing bacteria that lodge in the nose, mouth, and throat waiting until body resistance is low to strike.

Remember that while you are thus helping Nature ward off disease, you are also putting yourself on the polite side socially, for Listerine, as you know, ends halitosis (unpleasant breath). Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Whatever your job is—you need health and energy to ride it. Take a tip from this star salesman and take Nujol regularly. You'll be amazed to find how much more clear-headed and all 'round efficient you feel. Keep up this treatment faithfully for 3 months and you'll feel like a million dollars. COURT TO HEAR ABOUT INNER WORKINGS

The inner workings of the K. K. K. will be bared in Federal Court in April, the result of an order signed by Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson directing the production of original records, bank books, ledgers, membership lists, including all members of the klan recorded in Pennsylvania, the records of the Daily Dispatch Publishing Corporation and records of moneys paid to Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans during the five-year period from June, 1921, to August, 1926.

These records, according to the petition filed by Attorney Van A. Barrickman, representing Dr. Charles S. Hunter, one of five defendants named in an injunction action brought by the klan, are not now in possession of S. McDonald, 414 Jeannette street, Wilkinsburg, where they were placed by Sam D. Rich, former imperial representative and acting grand dragon of the K. K. K. from 1921 to 1926.

The petition recites that the records are necessary for the defense in the equity suit which is to be heard April 9.

The petition also avers that Rich, now residing at 37 Garard avenue, Covington, Ky., has within the last few days given instructions to McDonald to remove the papers and records from the jurisdiction of the local Federal Court and ordered them taken into Ohio.

Hunter, along with Dr. John P. Strayer, Dr. Charles F. Oyer, William C. Davis and Barrickman were named defendants in an injunction suit brought by the klan to restrain them from interfering with the operation of the klan or collecting initiation fees. The five brought a counter suit asking for a receiver.

When One's Hairs Are Numbered—

Here's the story of a smart young matron whose hairs may be numbered from 1 to 4:

1. First they are her own bobbed locks. She's letting them grow, on the sides, but with a trim Charm Shop finger wave to shorten them considerably, she is still able to wear her hair "down" for sports, and occasions when she keeps her hat on.

2. Second is the tiny piece of matching hair (probably made of her own shorn locks) which she crosses in a flat bow knot on the back of her neck for evening or afternoon occasions. It's called the Collegiate. ($5.00 and $10.00).

3. Third comes her "French Part" which she uses to hide the fact that there's been no time for a wave between swimming and luncheon; or between golf and dinner. This is just a tiny bit of naturally wavy hair made with no other foundation than the narrow part from which it "grows." ($40.00 and $50.00).

4. And fourth, there is a full sized transformation which she uses during those seasons of the year when her own hair has lost its luster temporarily, and is falling more than usual. Made of naturally curly hair which exactly matches her own, with plenty of hair for a knot in back ($40.00 to $75.00).

(Let us assist you in the choice of one or another or all of these modern little bits of hair).

NEW POSTOFFICE HERE IS DITCHED BY HOUSE

MEANS DELAY OF AT LEAST ONE YEAR

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Sun-Tele Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Although the Federal Building Commission in its initial report to Congress last session recommended a new $3,000,000 postoffice structure for Pittsburgh and declared that present facilities in the city are inadequate, the House Appropriation Committee has failed to make provision for the city in its estimating for funds to be spent on the first year's building program. The Treasury Department's annual appropriation bill, which carries funds for new structures on the first year's program, was reported to the House Tuesday.

An examination of the hearings, made public simultaneously with the report, reveals that the Treasury Department, charged jointly with the Postoffice Department in formulating the program, did not ask that funds for Pittsburgh be appropriated at this time.

Failure of the bill to carry an expenditure for the city means that a delay of at least one year will take place in the plans for a new building, unless an additional authorization is acted upon before adjournment.

In eliminating the city from the estimates, Treasury officials probably proceeded on the assumption that the congestion at Pittsburgh is less than in a number of other cities, which deserved prior treatment. Chances are that the city will be taken care of in the next allotment of funds.

THE WORLD OVER, Miss Irma Schubert tells us, smiles are growing brighter, teeth healthier and whiter by the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent

Teeth Sparkle Like Precious Jewels

When dingy Film is removed new way

(FREE 10-day test will prove it)

IN hundreds of thousands of cases it is discovered that teeth thought naturally "off color" are actually dazzling white. A film coat makes them gray and dull. When you remove it the new way teeth take on a brilliance that amazes. Gums grow firm and pink.

A simple test proves the great truth of this discovery. A test that stars of the stage and screen have made by scores. It has taught them their most important beauty aid.

A new way in tooth and gum care removes the dingy film that clouds your teeth. A film that absorbs discolorations and keeps teeth dingy.

Just run your tongue across your teeth. And you will feel that film. It is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It forms a breeding place for germs. And germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and other serious troubles.

Ordinary brushing fails in successfully fighting film. And under film are the clear, whiter teeth you envy.

Now modern science has perfected an effective film combatant, called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film, then to remove it. It firms and protects gums; beautifies teeth quickly and correctly.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Betrothal Announcement of Margaret Head, Formerly of Pittsburgh, of Keen Interest Here

THE three great events in a young girl's life, for of course there must be that magic number in reckoning anything, are her debut, the announcement of her engagement and the wedding. Since debuts are over until next fall and since Ellen Stone's wedding this afternoon concludes the important marriages of early February, there remains only engagement announcements as contributions of the younger set to social news.

An engagement that will be of keen interest to many a Pittsburgher is that of Margaret Head, daughter of Mrs. Morris W. Head, of New Rochelle, N. Y. The Heads, you will recall, used to live on Wellesley avenue. Mrs. Head has just announced the betrothal of attractive Margaret to William Donaldson Stewart, Jr., son of the William D. Stewarts, of the Shore Road, Pelham Manor, New York.

Margaret is a granddaughter of the late Justice John B. Head, of Greensburg, and is well known in this city and Greensburg. Her fiance is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1924. We have heard that he is a member of the New York Stock Exchange. Like most of the engagements now being announced, Margaret's betrothal will end with a fall wedding.

Popular Mary Currier Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Lewis, has really had a busy year. First of all, she made her bow to society in the fall, and attended and was honored at many a debutante affair this season. Just at present she is in New Haven, where she went to attend that event so important in the lives of the younger set, the Yale prom. She'll be back on Thursday. And that's not all. Next week she is going to leave for Palm Beach, where she will probably stay until spring.

Betty Charters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Charters, is another charming young Pittsburgh girl who is in New Haven for the prom. And Mary Lewis is going to Palm Beach with Betty and her parents.

The quiet season preceding Lent is rivaling the Yuletide as a time for family reunions. Mrs. Edward S. Travers, the former Louise Allderdice, has been the guest of her parents, the Taylor Allderdices. Mrs. Travers, as you probably know, and her husband are now living in St. Louis, Mo. Within a short time Mrs. Travers will again visit her parents.

Mrs. Edward Muzzey, of Patterson, N. J, left for her home Monday after spending a fortnight with her daughter, Mrs. Charles C. McKallip, of Sewickley.

Although the majority of the society folk look with favor upon the South, a few every now and then decide to remain North for the late winter season. A few find the brilliant coloring of the southern season less fascinating than the subtle values of northern winter landscape. Among these is Mrs. Samuel Alfred McClung, who has decided to stay in the city until spring.

Miss Lula Nannah, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Van Sickle are to be chaperons at the annual junior prom of the University of Pittsburgh, to be held February 17. John Graeff is chairman for the prom.

The Home Economics Club is to give its annual bridge party Thursday afternoon, February 16, in Webster Hall. Miss Esther Betzwanger is chairman, assisted by Miss Harriet Mercan, Miss Elizabeth Caulfield, Miss Rose Adams, Miss Florence Bechtel and Miss Ruth Welty.

Beginning next week, there is to be a series of bridge luncheons for women members of the Pittsburgh Country Club in Beechwood boulevard on alternating Tuesdays. The hostesses for February are Mrs. Clark Hammond, chairman; Mrs. C. M. Yohe, Mrs. R. W. Kiser, Mrs. J. O. Horning, Mrs. Alexander Dunbar, Mrs. Robert J. Coyle, Jr., Mrs. C. W. Bennett and Mrs. H. A. Gidney.

A benefit Valentine dance is being planned for Monday night in DeSimone's Hall, East End. Miss Anna Fusco is in charge.

ENGAGED TO WED

MISS ROYDEN SPEAKS ON RELIGIOUS PSYCHOLOGY

Introduced by the Rev. Dr. Percy G. Kammerer, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, as "one of the few individuals who are making a spiritual contribution to this generation," Miss Maude Royden, famous English preacher and lecturer, spoke last night in Carnegie Music Hall on "Psychology and Religion." Miss Royden's talk, which closed the Central Y. W. C. A. series of lectures, might well be termed a sermon, although it had a subject instead of a text. It was full of that serenity, calm and assurance which one always feels in the presence of this remarkable woman. She spoke first of the psychologist's claims that all religion is based on fear and that man creates God in his own image.

"What your religion is based on is not one hundredth part as important as whether it is true," she said. As to the other claim—"You are the sum total of your irrevocable past. Whatever you worship, whether it be power, or wealth, or popularity, or Jesus of Nazareth, it will relentlessly carve itself upon your face. The immutable law of cause and effect cannot be dodged."

"Is it possible," Miss Royden queried, "that Christ, from whose birth nine-tenths of the entire population of the world date all events, could have derived His gigantic power from belief in a lie? The heart of the Christian religion is fatherhood and the worth of the Christian faith is belief that God is Father."

Miss Royden pointed out that science banished fear and gave men mastery of their surroundings and that psychology gives them mastery of themselves but that it fails when it tries to explain religion with psychological laws.

Miss Royden was guest of honor at an informal luncheon at Central Branch yesterday and made a brief talk, pleading for understanding and tolerance between her country and the United States. The two have much in common, she said, and their differences are only temperamental. In order to illustrate this she said, "Our candidates for election always stand. Yours always run."

Dinner on one of the Pennsylvania's new dining cars is to be remembered

Here's one "Grown-up" drink that's good for children!

NATURALLY you can't let the children have caffein beverages with their meals. That's out of the question. But it is hard to say "No" to their "Please, Mother!" Harder still if your children are among the many who don't like milk.

Here's a simple way out of the difficulty! Serve Instant Postum made with milk, the drink that schools everywhere are serving as part of the noon-day lunch. It's so easy to make! Just put a teaspoonful of Instant Postum in a cup, pour in hot (not boiled) milk, add sugar to taste—it's ready!

Healthful—Nourishing!

There's no caffein in Instant Postum made with milk. Not the slightest trace of any drug! Instead, you have a drink made of whole wheat and bran, plus all the body-building nourishment of milk. A drink with a smooth, rich flavor all its own. Children love it—even children who don't like milk alone!

Your grocer has Instant Postum. Order it today—serve it to your children tomorrow! And try it yourself—made with either milk or boiling water. Or, let Postum be your mealtime drink for thirty days. See what a difference it makes! Then decide if you will ever go back to caffein beverages. Eight out of ten decide "No"!

Charming people in a charming setting—

Dinner on the new Pennsylvania diners . . .

It is dinner time on Pennsylvania trains!

"Good evening, sir," . . . the steward steps forward. His voice, his manner speak eloquently of pride in the smart new dining car, of pleasure in serving you well.

Only the dull, muffled hum of the flying wheels tells you as you walk to your seat that the car is traveling sixty miles an hour.

A smiling waiter . . . quick, deft service. Food prepared by chefs trained in special schools of the Pennsylvania standard. Somehow the homelike, quiet decoration of the car, the well trained men who serve, the delicious dinner itself warm you. There is a pleasant hum of conversation—an atmosphere of well-being—in the whole car. This, you feel, is more than an ordinary dinner. It's an occasion.

Speeding over the countryside now are many of these new Pennsylvania dining cars. In their planning and decoration—in the selection of the men who man them—an effort has been made to create all the hospitality, all the decorum of your favorite club.

SISTERS SHOOT IT OUT, BUT AIM IS BAD

Police, detectives and plain-clothesmen rushed on a riot call to 1317 Whitcomb street this morning to find that two Negro women, sisters, had been shooting out a little argument. Police reported no casualties and the disappearance of the disputants.

The Smith sisters, Helen and Elizabeth, passed pointed personalities to each other, ending in pistol shooting. Ed Smith, husband of one of the sisters, was taken to the Center Avenue Police Station, stoutly denying there had been any disturbance.

Hundreds of spectators jammed Whitcomb street. Every window along that Hill district thoroughfare framed heads of startled residents, but the police dispersed the crowds.

Stage and Screen

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

"The Squall," Broadway Show, Is Scheduled to Reach Screen As First National Photoplay

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.

CENSORIALLY speaking, "The Squall" is full of pitfalls. Dramatically speaking, it is full of highlights that ought to flicker on the screen with color and interest. At any rate, First National has purchased this play, which occupied a New York stage for 10 long months. There are two feminine roles of interest, the one played by Blanche Yurka as the mother, probably the stellar role, and that of the young Gypsy girl, who comes into the home and leads her son astray as well as her husband. A wanton is this Gypsy whose greatest happiness lies in beads and money, a tricky little creature without a moral to her name.

Some way I can't see the movies daring to film a story in which a father and son fall in love with the same woman. That is practically the story of "The Squall," if one can dignify their emotion with the word love. Yet, since "Sadie Thompson" passed muster strange times have come upon the movies.

A year ago Evelyn Brent was regarded as a fair actress, a girl who would do very well in pictures that cost, say $30,000 to produce. Times have changed and within that brief 12 months Evelyn Brent has become one of the most sought after actresses in Hollywood. To me her case is one of the most interesting of any I know. Over at Famous Players-Lasky the different male stars are lined up asking for her as their leading lady. A year ago not one of them would have had her. Doesn't that prove what one or two good pictures will do for an actress. Ruth Chatterton, originally announced to play opposite Adolphe Menjou in "Super of the Gaieties," will make her screen bow in something else and Evelyn Brent will be Mr. Menjou's next leading lady.

Laura La Plante must have gone to Honolulu very well satisfied. Just before she took the boat she discussed with certain people "The Husband Hunt," by Harry O. Hoyt, as a possible story. This gives her a chance for comedy as well as a little drama. Lewis Stone, who seems to have become almost as closely associated with Universal as he was with First National in the old days, is mentioned as one of the leading characters. Johnny Harron is also a possibility.

The air last week was full of stories that Irving Thalberg had purchased "Kongo" for Lon Chaney. Just to make the story a little better there was the additional word that Shannon Day, the leading lady of the stage play here in Los Angeles, will be borrowed for the screen version. "Kongo," it may interest you to know, is on the list of plays forbidden by Will Hays or, shall I say, on the list of plays that the Hays organization recommends be unfilmed. If the play is screened it will be under another name, you may be sure of that. Few producers care to run the risk of worrying, after a picture is produced, on the possibility of its being withheld from circulation.

Buster Keaton is not going to lack for good company nor bridge partners in his convalescent days at Lake Tahoe. Constance Talmadge, who is always devoted to her sister, Natalie, and always has been, accompanied the Buster Keatons to this cold climate. Buster Collier, who had a few days between pictures, has gone with them. No one could be dull or bored with Connie along. She is one of the most vivid, alert young women I know, always the same, full of pep and happy. It's a great way to be if you care to be popular and no one can deny the younger Talmadge girl's standing with her friends.

Her Dad

JOHN M'CABE plays the part of the father of Rosemary Murphy, the Rose of "Abie's Irish Rose," which is in the Pitt for a stay of two weeks.

NEW BILLS HAVE MUSIC, MIRTH

After long engagements in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, Eddie Dowling will arrive in the Nixon next Monday night with his latest musical comedy success, "Honeymoon Lane." The company includes Martha Morton, Gordon Dooley, Bobby Perkins, Al Sexton, Florence O'Denishawn, Jerry McAuliffe, Josie Intropidi and others.

Sudworth Fraser, the Prince Karl Franz of "The Student Prince," the operetta which comes to the Alvin next Tuesday for a stay of five days, has been singing this role for three seasons which includes a run of 10 months in Chicago. The sale of seats for this attraction will begin Thursday morning.

"Abie's Irish Rose," the record-breaking comedy of which Anne Nichols is the author and producer, and which is now playing in the 19th, was in the Republic Theater, New York, for five years and five months. It is still running in New York, in another theater. There will be a Pitt matinee Thursday.

Nazimova will headline the bill of Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis next week. Her vehicle will be a new playlet "India," by Edgar Allen Woolf and Fanny Hartz Friend. She will be supported by Isabelle Hill and Robert Conness.

CHILDREN'S CONCERT TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

The last concert for children of the present season will be given Friday afternoon, from 4 to 5 o'clock, by the Minneapolis Orchestra, in Carnegie Music Hall. This concert will be conducted by Henri Verbrugghen, the regular conductor. The program: March from "Tannhauser," Wagner; overture, "In Springtime," op. 36, Goldmark; final movement from Symphony No. 1 in C Minor, Brahms; Largo, Handel; Serenata, op. 15, Moszkowski; Aragonaise, from "Le Cid" ballet music, Massenet; prelude to Act 3, "Lohengrin," Wagner.

VENICE TO OPEN ITS GONDOLA ROOM

Preparations have been completed for the opening to the public Saturday night of the new gondola room as part of the enlarged Venice restaurant, 219 Diamond street, the management of which has recently been assumed by directors of the Flotilla Club. Friday a private opening will be held. Etzi Covato and his orchestra are to play nightly during the dinner at the Venice, and later for the dancers at the Flotilla Club. The Flotilla Club revue will appear nightly at the Venice at 7:30 and at the Flotilla at 11:30.

RACHMANINOFF ARTIST IN THURSDAY CONCERT

Rachmaninoff is to appear in a concert in Carnegie Music Hall Thursday night. The major work on tomorrow night's program is Beethoven's Sonata quasi una Fantasia. Rachmaninoff's own "Prelude" also is on the program.

OPERATION IN HASTE SAVES BOBTOWN CHILD

NORTH SIDE LADY IS GIVEN RELIEF

She Tells How Ten Herbs Benefited Stomach, Liver and Nerves.

"My stomach was in such bad condition that sometimes even the sight of food would nauseate me," was the statement of Mrs. Mary Hauch, popular lady, living at 1306 Howard Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue.

MRS. MARY HAUCH

Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs. "Nearly everything I ate disagreed with me," Mrs. Hauch continued. "At times it seemed as though food formed in a hard lump in the pit of my stomach and would sour and ferment. Gas would form and I would bloat until I could hardly get my breath.

"I had nervous spells, and did not get proper sleep, as I would fall and toss for hours at a time. My liver was disordered, and this made me bilious and dizzy. I had headaches and was troubled with constipation. My kidneys were out of order. There were soreness, stiffness and sharp pains across my back. Finally, rheumatism developed and I had terrible pains in my shoulders and limbs.

"A friend told me about Ten Herbs, and I started taking it, with splendid results. My food digests better and I can eat things I never dared eat before. I am getting relief from gas, sourness, heartburn and shortness of breath, and am gaining in strength. My nerves have been strengthened, and I sleep better. My liver and bowels seem to be in normal condition, and I am free of headaches, dizziness, biliousness and tired feeling. I am also being relieved of soreness and stiffness across the back, and rheumatic pains. Ten Herbs did so much for me that I gladly recommend it to the public."

Ten Herbs, which consists of the medicinal extracts of ten wonderful natural ingredients, benefits and invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and gives the entire system a thorough cleaning.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample.

Personal Comment by Mrs. Ruth Hughes

—Reinmiller Studio

"In my young motherhood I was in a frail, delicate state of health, my back ached, I had bearing pains, my appetite failed and I became nervous and generally miserable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription (which I took alternately) relieved me of all weakness and distress and strengthened me in every way. It was a turning point in my life when I changed from a frail little woman into a strong, robust one, for I never drifted back into any sort of weakness afterward. I have never forgotten it and that is why I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to other women who are in a frail and nervous state."—(Signed) Mrs. Ruth Hughes, 641 Peace St., Hazleton, Pa.

ALLEGHENY ICE GORGE HOLDS, DESPITE RAIN

RIVER RISING AS JAM DAMS WATER

KITTANNING, Pa., Feb. 8.—The big gorge in the Allegheny River, stretching upstream for miles, was still holding today despite yesterday's rain and continued mild weather.

Back-water from the jam has boosted the river to 19 feet, five feet below flood stage. The rain, about six-tenths inch, will have little effect, rivermen say.

The pack, made up of piles of thin slush ice, refrozen by recurring cold spells, is gradually becoming water soaked and rivermen think much of it may sink before the volume of water is sufficient to carry it downstream.

HAILED AS NEW FARRAR

tor of the Metropolitan, clapping and cheering from his box in the golden horseshoe, remarked afterwards:

"Miss Moore's rendition of Mimi is the most delightful I have ever heard in my life. She sang the role with deep feeling. When Grace Moore sings, it reaches the heart!"

Praise from Mr. Kahn is the prayer of every singer. And the little Southern girl wept again as she learned his decision.

Guilio Gatti-Casazza, general manager and impressario of the Metropolitan, forsook his usual poise to clap loudly and cheer at Miss Moore's debut.

The golden horseshoe, sparkling with the gems and lorgnettes of the creme-de-la-creme audience of the world, nodded and whispered its approval.

"Another Farrar," was the word passed around.

All the Tennessee folks in the audience were practically spell-bound through the performance, as "our girl from Tennessee" lifted her glorious voice and rendered the entire role without a single flaw.

Not once did Miss Moore falter. Old veterans of the Metropolitan admired her poise. High notes registered every time. Her thrills and grace notes were superb. She is a splendid actress as well as a superb singer. The result was a Mimi acted with all the pathos and charm which the role affords.

Afterwards—backstage! Such tears of pride and joy from Grace Moore's "homefolks." They circled around her and smothered her with roses.

PARENTS THERE

After posing for hundreds of moving pictures and "stills," Miss Moore, still in her Mimi costume, drew the delegation of Tennessee folks to her dressing room, where she held court.

Col. and Mrs. R. L. Moore of Jellico, Tenn., Miss Moore's mother and father, were there, as were her brothers, Martin, James and R. L. Moore, Jr., and a sister, Emily Moore, Jr.

Mrs. Zella Armstrong of Chattanooga, Tenn., spokesman for the Tennessee delegation, made this statement:

"To the people back in Tennessee, I want to say that this has been a most sublime occasion. Tennesseeans were rewarded for the trip."

Miss Moore is 27. She followed the advice of George M. Cohan, who several years ago urged her to "train for the Metropolitan." While training her voice here, Miss Moore took leading roles in Broadway musical productions. She returned from two years' of intensive study in Europe this year. Her engagement for the Metropolitan was announced last October.

Among those in the famous golden horseshoe who witnessed Miss Moore's debut were: Count and Countess De Vallombrosa, Morgan J. O'Brian, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Conde Nast, Otto Kahn, Schuyler Parsons, Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, Clarence Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Draper, Count and Countess De Segonzac, Lady Armstrong, Mary Garden and Cole Porter.

Artists who gathered to pay honor at Miss Moore's debut included: Morris Gest, George M. Cohan, the Astaires, Mme. D'Alvarez, Mme. Sophie Braslau, Alma Gluck Zimbalist, Judith Anderson, Al Jolson, Oscar Shaw and Max Reinhardt.

Watch Your Kidneys After Colds and Grip!

Many Functional Kidney Disorders Are the Result of Germ Diseases

DOES winter find you lame, stiff and achy? Do you feel tired, drowsy—suffer nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney secretions too frequent, scanty or burning in passage? Do you wonder what is wrong?

Know then that these are often signs of improper kidney action. Colds and grip increase the poisons in the blood and bring extra work to the kidneys. When the kidneys act sluggishly, waste impurities remain in the blood and cause many unpleasant symptoms.

One is apt to feel tired and drowsy—to have a dull, nagging backache and annoying headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not working right is often shown by too frequent, scanty or burning secretions.

Thousands have learned to rely on Doan's Pills after winter's colds and chills. Doan's, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. They have earned a nation-wide reputation. Ask your neighbor!

Insist on the Genuine Doan's and Refuse Substitutes

The genuine Doan's Pills may be identified by the maple leaf trade mark and the signature "Jas. Doan." They are sold by good dealers everywhere and have been publicly endorsed by more than 50,000 satisfied users. Demand the genuine Doan's and don't accept a substitute.

"The Lovelorn"

Realistic! Gripping! Unusual!

Georgie and Ann were sisters....but they had entirely different dispositions....one was reckless, jazz-loving, excitement-craving ....the other was practical, studious, home-loving...into their lives came a dashing, romantic young man....he loved them both ....and both loved him....it was a knotty problem for all concerned....

And the only person who could solve it was Beatrice Fairfax....the world-famous adviser to the lovelorn was called into consultation....and the result is one of the most realistic, one of the most gripping, one of the most unusual stories ever written....you can't afford to miss it.

VISITOR SNATCHES 10 FROM DEATH IN GAS

ARRIVES IN NICK OF TIME

The arrival of Mrs. Myrtle Shanks at the home of her sister, Mrs. Richard L. Harbert, O'Neil boulevard, Fawcett plan, near McKeesport, last night, probably saved the lives of 10 persons whom she found unconscious from gas fumes that filled the residence. Children playing in the basement of the house are believed to have turned the gas high in a water heater, filling the house with fumes.

Mrs. Shanks, who lives nearby, dragged the victims outside the house where they were revived and sent to a nearby physician's office. Miss Rose Martin, 21, and Marcella Chottiner, 14, two of the victims, were treated at the McKeesport Hospital where the Chottiner girl was ordered held.

The victims are Mr. and Mrs. Harbert, Richard L. Harbert, Jr., 5; Earl W. Harbert, 2; Mrs. Roy Price and two children, Marcella and Roy, aged 3, and 6; Marcella Chottiner, 14; Lawrence Chottiner, 8; and Miss Martin. Miss Martin and the Chottiner children were visiting Mrs. Price.

DRY VIOLATOR PAROLED

Thomas O'Toole, former justice of the peace at Monessen, yesterday was placed under parole for 18 months by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, for conspiring with other Monessen borough officials to violate the national prohibition law.

At the trial, in February, 1927, O'Toole entered a plea of nolle contendere, and testified in behalf of the government. Among the nine convicted was Police Chief William Horne. He was instructed to report at certain intervals to Federal Probation officer George G. O'Brien.

MURDERER OF CLAIRTON WOMAN GETS 20 YEARS

John Wilkins, Clairton Negro, was convicted of murder in the second degree by a jury in Criminal Court today before Judge James H. Gray. He was sentenced to serve from 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary. Actuated by jealousy, he shot Hannah Atkin, Negro, 40, with whom he roomed at 309 Railroad street, Clairton. Walking into the dining room he deliberately fired at her in the presence of a number of witnesses after saying, "I'm going to the workhouse or going to hell," according to testimony.

GIVES HYPNOTIST 30-DAY TRANCE

"Charles the Great," described by himself as "Hypnotist Extraordinary," was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse, with the alternative of a $50 fine, by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today for hiring and, so police said, starving nine young women in his magic act.

Again Brandon offered the "Hypnotist Extraordinary," who is on the police books as Charles Hayes, 45, of 12 Federal street, his freedom if he would prove his hypnotic powers in the courtroom.

Hayes explained that because the minds in the courtroom were antagonistic to him he would require some 14 hours to exert the hypnotic influence. Everybody agreed that 14 hours was 14 hours.

Hayes was arrested on complaint of the young women that he had failed to pay their $25 salaries.

TEN DRIVEN INTO STREET BY FIRE

Ten persons were forced from their homes early today by fire that followed a gas explosion in the fruit store of Thomas Cira, 4780 Liberty avenue. The flames spread to two adjoining shops, causing a total damage of $4,500. The other establishments damaged were a cleaning and dyeing shop owned by Nick DiPinta, 4778 Liberty avenue and the Standard Plumbing Company, 4782 Liberty avenue.

Cira, his wife and five children who live at 4780 Linter way, directly in the rear of his fruit store, were ordered from their house by firemen when the flames threatened to spread to their residence. E. E. Rau, his wife and son, Edward, who live over the plumbing shop, which is owned by Rau, also were forced out.

LINDSEY HITS CHURCHES FOR OPPOSING 'PAL MARRIAGES'

SEES END OF DIVORCE COURTS

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who tonight will debate with the Rev. Dr. A. E. Day, pastor of the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, on "Companionate Marriage" at Carnegie Music Hall, explained his views on the subject in an interview in the Fort Pitt Hotel today.

"To take hypocrisy from marriage—that is the principal object," the modernist declared.

Four salient points in the purpose of the companionate marriage program as he listed them are: Legalization of birth control; establishment of a matrimonial commission; determination of alimony in divorce cases according to the economic status of the husband, and education of youth for parenthood and in sex matters.

Explaining the proposed matrimonial commission, he said it should be composed of specialists, and would take the place of divorce courts. Rich and poor would have access to it, and when a husband and wife became hopelessly estranged they would be granted their freedom from each other without expense.

"The companionate marriage program has made great headway in the last 10 years," Judge Lindsey said. "Ten years ago most newspapers would not even print the words 'birth control'—now it is commonplace to see them in print."

Judge Lindsey criticized what he termed a hypocritical stand by the churches.

"Birth control," he said, "is practiced extensively by people of all classes, yet the churches profess to be opposed to it."

In the debate tonight Dr. Day will be faced by a storm of facts and figures collected from all parts of the country by the modern marriage supporter. Among them are statistics to show that less than 40 per cent of the people in this country marry between the ages of 17 and 30—a fact which Judge Lindsey blames on present marriage laws and conventions.

During the morning Judge Lindsey called on Magistrate A. D. Brandon of Morals Court, an old friend. He said Brandon was the only one of four judges noted for their humanitarian qualities that was still on the bench. The other three were Judge Lindsey, himself; Judge Hurlburt, of Detroit, and Judge Arnold, of Chicago.

The harness business was ruined when the automobile became popular, he is convinced.

Get Tools, Candy; Robbers Fail On Hats

Candy, hats and auto tools were the targets of North Side robbers early today. They failed on hats.

At the Boyd & Sperling Garage, 1939 Perrysville avenue, a door was forced and $200 in tools taken.

Several boxes of candy and 15 were stolen from the W. E. Johnston candy plant, 2 Federal street, where a window was forced.

Across the street, at 17 Federal street, somebody tried to force the front door of the Wormser hat store, but failed.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

ONE of the unique experiences is to stand in one of the large buses of the town when all the seats are occupied. Mr. Gene Connelly sends us a message saying that one hasn't lived a full life until one tries this stunt.

Mr. Connelly was forced to descend to the bus as an instrument of transportation when his automobile went wrong. Mr. Connelly is one of those optimistic men who think that autos will run without gasoline.

Caught without gas, he had to take a bus. The only available thing to hang onto as one stands in a bus is the ear of a fellow-passenger lucky enough to have a seat and favored by nature with a "sail" large enough to hold onto.

WHILE this is not "Better Bus Week," or "Ride a Bus Month," it just so happens that Mr. Connelly's short essay on the adventures of a standing-sitting-diving bus rider is followed by a letter from Mr. Grafton Duvall, a former newspaperman, who decided to go straight.

"Thought you might be interested," writes Mr. Duvall, "in learning that every Thursday the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company sends a coach to the Old Ladies' Home in Swissvale to give 15 or 20 inmates a two and a half hour ride. The bus is provided by an elderly lady who lives on the North Side. The lady started the weekly event last June."

INSOFAR as distance is concerned Sidewalks achieves what will be called the farthest-west record with a note from John Fleming, now at Eaton's ranch in Wolf, Wyo.

THE day's worst joke and perhaps the worst Scotch joke of a series that has left much to be desired is sent in by a friend who says that two Scotchmen took to the golden wedding anniversary of a friend some gold fish. But why use such a joke? Well, we have a peculiar sense of humor and often some jokes and puns are so awful bad that they surpass in interest just a medium-sized joke.

IN THE smoking room of a Pullman the other evening a man came in. There were five of us in the smoker. Of the five the visitor picked on us as his victim. His opening gun was a question whether we minded his sitting beside us. We didn't, of course, and it would have made little difference because the seats are free to all Pullman customers.

Living near Bellefonte, Pa., seat of the eastern penitentiary, and the place where the state executes convicted murderers, he was by way of being an authority on the highly controversial subject of capital punishment. All we tried to do was to find out which side he was on so we could agree and thus avoid lengthening the discussion into a long argument.

"I GOT a long trip ahead of me," he said with a whew in front of it to emphasize the distance. We didn't ask his destination, but mentally judged he probably was on his way to clean up matters in China or possibly to take some part in the social unrest in India.

"Yep," he said, after waiting for the question that didn't come. "I'm going all the way to Oil City."

IT IS interesting to watch people leaving a movie house after having seen five or six reels of romance. The spectators, as they emerge, are stepping out of character back into the work-a-day world. Only a few men manage not to picture themselves as the hero on the screen and only a few girls escape placing themselves in the role of the heroine on the silver sheet. With the lights up, these men and women can be seen adjusting themselves to the normal world.

DRYS SPURN KRESGE GIFTS

DETROIT, Feb. 8.—The Michigan Law Enforcement League will not accept gifts from Sebastian S. Kresge, "five-and-ten" millionaire, until he explains the charges involving immorality and drinking of which he was found guilty by a jury in the divorce suit of his wife, Doris Mercer Kresge.

L. R. Bowen, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Law Enforcement League, today issued this statement:

"Owing to the many inquiries reaching us, I wish to say we have instructed our representatives to accept no contributions from S. S. Kresge until he makes satisfactory reply to the charges involving personal immorality and liquor drinking."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—The Anti-Saloon League has no intention of returning to S. S. Kresge, multi-millionaire prohibitionist, the $500,000 which he recently gave the league for propaganda work in advancement of the dry cause, according to F. Scott McBride, head of the organization.

The Rev. Boylan (Dem.) of New York, demanded in Congress yesterday that the gift be returned as "tainted money" because of revelations of Kresge's love nest and drinking parties contained in Mrs. Kresge's divorce action in New York.

"Of course we are not going to return it," said McBride.

ASK TOWN HALL BE MEMORIAL

Dedication of the proposed Town Hall to the soldiers, sailors and Marines of the World War and Spanish-American War, is urged by Allegheny County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Unanimous approval of the project has been given at a meeting of representatives of all posts in Allegheny county and a committee consisting of Robert O. Robinson, Kenneth Buffington and William H. Yocum appointed to co-operate with the American Legion and Spanish War Veterans in presenting a uniform proposal to the county commissioners.

No memorial to survivors of the World and Spanish wars exists here, the council points out.

CONVICT MAN IN STILL CASE

Stanley Juskowich of Mollenauer was convicted in Federal District Court of manufacturing and possessing moonshine whisky. A jury returned a verdict of acquittal for Jacob Sherman and Sam Goodman on instructions of the court. William Sherry, Armando Trapuzzano, Anthony J. Waukauskas and Anthony R. Juliana, were paroled when they entered pleas to complaints charging violations of the national prohibition law.

Fines aggregating $2,600, and ranging from $50 to $500, were imposed on 12 defendants who pleaded guilty of violating the prohibition law.

CARDINALS' MANAGER "SITS IN" WITH BRANDON

On the eve of his departure for St. Louis to take up cudgels as manager of the Cardinals, "Bill" McKechnie, former Pirate manager, sat on the bench with Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today and listened to the tales of wrecked homes, the wails of wives with blackened eyes and the sobs of young girls who found Cupid full of deceit. "Life on the baseball diamond never produced anything like this," observed "Bill." With Magistrate Brandon and his baseball guest, were Miss Nell D. Crow, record clerk, and A. K. COURT ASKED TO REMOVE GIRL'S GUARDIAN

A citation directing Samuel Dempster, treasurer of the W. J. Gilmore Drug Company, to show cause why he should not be removed as guardian of Mary Wood Dempster, 19, of Montgomery county, and the Commonwealth Trust Company appointed in his place, was handed down by Orphans Court. The rule is made returnable February 20, when a hearing will be held.

A petition for the citation was filed in behalf of Miss Dempster by her mother, Mrs. Helen Wood Dempster, widow of David M. Dempster, who died December 6, 1918. Attorneys Smith, Buchanan, Scott & Gordon represent the petitioners.

WOMEN WAR ON VOTE FRAUDS

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

C'est la guerre!

And war to the finish. For the League of Women Voters of the State of Pennsylvania is up in arms. There are chairmen from every district in the state meeting in the Twentieth Century Club today, outlining the attack.

Something not only must be done about election scandals in this state, but something is going to be done—by the women. You'd believe they meant business if you could have heard their spokesman, Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, county leader, say:

"Why, we have to clean up, and clean up at once, if we even hope to maintain our national reputation. It seems to me we have done enough talking. It's time to work."

Then Mrs. Smith explained:

"The league has been active for some time with the election laws commission of which Senator Schantz is chairman. We have appeared before them in Scranton and Harrisburg, and will make many other appearances before we are through.

"We not only have to reform the election laws in Pittsburgh but get relief for this crookedness through redistricting. Some districts are most unfairly represented. In the Strip they get twice as much representation for the populaton, as in the Fourteenth Ward."

Mrs. Smith believes voting machines are the solution, and the league is now making a campaign to have them installed. She revealed that women organizers have been going over the state with small portable machines in a sort of educational campaign, staging demonstrations.

Mrs. John O. Miller, state chairman and a sister of Mrs. Smith, and Senator Harris will speak at a voting machine demonstration in Dormont Friday night.

Just what the women expect to accomplish or plan at their meeting today is up to this time a mystery. But they have their heads together. Which means that questionable politicians had better scamper to cover before the girls let loose their barrage.

SHARON DOCTOR TAKES TO HEELS, SO DOES THUG

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 8.—Instead of elevating his hands in the traditional manner when a highwayman pointed a gun at him last night, Dr. C. Howard Moses, city physician, took to his heels.

Bewildered, the would-be robber pocketed his gun and faded out. The holdup occurred when Dr. Moses was preparing to enter his car parked on a side street.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Failed Because of Nervousness

Force, Power, Ambition, Persistency of Purpose—All Are Lacking.

Don't grow old before your time, don't let nervousness wreck your happiness or chances in life. The man with strong steady nerves is full of vigor, energy, ambition and confidence.

You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keen mind by putting nerves in first-class shape with mighty Lifetone Tablets, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition.

All you have to do is to take two Lifetone Tablets after each meal and two at bedtime for two weeks.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't increased, if your mind isn't clearer and eyes brighter, if you don't feel ambitious as of old, May Drug Co. or any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely. 72 tablets $1.00.

LUNGS BAD; NOW GAINING

J. E. Lawrence, 812 Johnson street, Danville, Illinois, is a grateful user of Murrmann's Compound, the wonderful new lung remedy that contains no alcohol or narcotic drugs. Read his interesting letter:

"Last fall I was sent away for four months on account of my lungs. I gained in weight, but lungs did not seem to get any better, and last March something went wrong with my stomach. I began losing weight, so I came back home and got down in bed. After about a month I began taking Murrmann's Compound, have taken four or five bottles, and since taking it have had my lungs examined by two doctors, and found them in good shape. Not satisfied I have had them x-rayed, and was told that my lungs were entirely well. I am gaining in weight. I still take Murrmann's Compound."

If your lungs are affected get a bottle of Murrmann's Compound. At reliable druggists.

Crossed Wires, Both Pat and Drummond On the Line

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

LILLY LEXINGTON, spoiled daughter of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS, is engaged to marry STALEY DRUMMOND, a rich bachelor much older than herself. She is fond of him, but realizes she does not really love him the day after she accepts him, when she becomes instantly and violently infatuated with a taxicab driver whom she sees down town when she goes to meet her chum, SUE CAIN. Forgetting all about Sue, she jumps into his cab and he drives her home. She learns that his name is PAT FRANCE and that he owns his own cab in a company headed by his friend, ROY JETTERSON. She marries Pat. Lily tried, and their domstic ship sailed smoother for a few months. One day Lily met SUE CAIN, an old friend, on the street. Sue invited her to a card party. Lily, without funds, went to a store and tried to charge some clothes to her father. She was informed her mother had left word that "Mrs. Patrick France could not charge things to Mr. Lexington." Staley Drummond has been buying her clothes and furs and tries to persuade her to divorce Pat and marry him. Pat breaks his arm and Lily nurses him. She leaaves Pat and goes back to her own home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"YOU certainly would be!" Lily told her, "Think what a terrible time you'd have working for those three children year in and year out, with no money to bring them up. You take the one with money and you'll be happy."

The girl looked troubled. "Do you think so?" she asked, doubtfully. "He ain't a bit nice looking, and I was afraid that maybe if I married him I'd always be hankering for the good-looking one—the one with the kids, you know."

Lily shook her head. "You'd never think of him when you had your own house and maybe a little automobile," she said. "But if you marry the poor one you'll always be sorry you passed up the one with the money. Nothing can eat into your soul like poverty, Hester Belle."

Hester Belle gazed at her, her mouth hanging open, her face stupid and heavy, as if she only dimly understood what was being said to her.

"I don't know as I could live with a man I didn't like," she remarked after a whole minute. "I don't know as it's a very good thing to do, either. Seems to me it ain't real honest or pure."

For just one fleeting second Lily found herself wondering if it were honest and pure to divorce the man you loved but couldn't be happy with, and marry the man you did not love, but who had the only thing that would make you happy—money.

Then she shook off the thought and went back to the living room fire.

After dinner she played the piano for a while, simply glorying in the knowledge that someone else was out in the kitchen washing the dishes.

At 10 she went to bed, grateful for the linen sheets, the smell of pine and lavender in the pillows, and the silk-covered comforter that she tucked around her shoulders.

She dropped off to sleep, thinking drowsily, not of Pat, but of Staley Drummond, and how she would telephone him first thing in the morning to let him know where she was and why she was there.

"He'll be tickled to death," she knew.

She woke up at noon the next day and spent two hours dawdling over her breakfast and her toilet. She scrubbed and brushed and polished herself within an inch of her life.

"I want to look well the first time I see Staley," she said to herself, rubbing perfume into the back of her neck where the bright gold hair rose from the white skin. "I don't want him to weaken, now that I'm all set to go ahead and get my divorce."

When she was all dressed in a lilac-colored silk dress that was a year old, but very good style, nevertheless, she ran to the telephone in the big upper hall.

Just as she touched it it began to ring.

CHAPTER XLVII.

LILY picked up the telephone. "Hello," she said into the mouthpiece, and almost before the little word was off her lips she heard Pat's voice.

"I'm down at my Dad's house," he began, "and I thought that maybe you'd—"

Lily waited to hear no more. She slammed the receiver back upon its little black hook, and banged the telephone down upon the hall table.

"As if I cared where he is or what he thinks!" she said to herself. "As if I cared one single rap!"

She really did not care, at that time. She was all dressed and ready to see Staley Drummond. She was back in her old home and her old life, and she had put the very thought of Pat out of her mind.

"He practically ordered me out of my own home," she thought, with part of her brain, while she looked up Staley's home telephone number in the directory and gave it.

His Japanese butler answered her ring. Lily recognized his voice after all the months that had gone by since she had heard it—and it was a welcome sound.

"Pretty soon, Ito, you'll be taking orders from me," she said to him, silently, while aloud she asked him if Mr. Drummond were at home.

He was, and his voice became sharp with eagerness when she told him where she was. "I'll come over as soon as I finish my dinner," he said her. "They're having a party at Cains' house. We'll go together and surprise them all, what?"

It flashed through Lily's mind that Pat never would have stopped to finish dinner under these circumstances, if she had been telephoning him instead of Staley—he never would have wanted to drag her off to a party first thing, either. He would have wanted her all to himself.

But then, Staley was not Pat. He never had been the exciting, pell-mell sort of person that Pat was. He was older and more settled than Pat, and he took things more calmly."

"All right, Staley, that will be fine," she answered. "What time will you come for me?"

And then, by some trick of crossed wires, Pat's voice came to her instead of the other man's. "Hello, is this you Lily?" was asking. "We were cut off—"

"Hello, hello, hello!" It was Staley's voice now in her ear. "I said I'd be over about 4 o'clock, Lily. Do you hear me?"

"I hear you," Lily said. "Goodby."

Of course, she was all through with Pat France forever and ever. But she didn't want him to know that she was on with the new love—or was Staley her old love?—so soon. . . . After all, Pat was still her husband.

She heard Staley hang up his receiver, and wondering if he knew that Pat had been speaking to her.

"Hello, Pat," she said. There was no answer.

She jiggled the hook up and down. "Hello—Pat!" she asked, and after another second or two he spoke to her.

"Well, it didn't take you long to get Drummond back on your string, did it?" he asked. Gosh, and to think I used to think what a good wife you were. What a sap I've been, haven't I?"

His voice was filled with bitterness, and he hung up. The click of the receiver going up at his end of the wire sounded in Lily's ear.

She was on the verge of tears for a minute, as she stood beside the telephone table, clutching the edge of it with both hands. . . . She wondered if all separations were like this. Full of moments of misgivings and regret.

. . . . . .

At 4 o'clock Staley came to the house, looking very swagger and elegant in an English morning coat and a fresh, white gardenia in his buttonhole.

It was a gray, sunless day, and the house was almost dark when he came. There was no light in it, but the rosy glow of the fire that Hester Belle had made in the living room before she left for the afternoon to meet one of the two men who were "after" her. There wasn't a sound in it, either.

Lily went to the door when he rang and opened it.

Without a word, he came in, laid his hat and stick and topcoat on the hall table, and took her in his arms. "This is just old times, isn't it?" he asked, huskily. "Just like it was last spring, before you had even seen that cab driver—" He kissed her forehead, and he would have kissed her mouth, but Lily wriggled herself out of his arms.

"Ah, we mustn't do this now," she said to him. "Remember that I'm still another man's wife. We must be very careful what we do for the next few months, Staley, until I'm free."

"Since when are you so careful?" Staley wanted to know, with a laugh, and Lily wondered if he realized that she did not want him near her—that, somehow, the thought of his kisses made her cold all over.

"Let's go to Sue's house!" she said, brightly. "I'm just dying to see the crowd when we burst in upon them—together! Especially Ann Barney! I suppose she thinks she has you all hooked, doesn't she?"

Staley shook his head as he helped her into her coat. As he pulled the fur collar around her neck, his finger stroked her cheeks for an instant. "Please let me kiss you—just once for a Christmas present—before we go," he begged, and while Lily shook her head and pushed him away, she thought of Pat, who never asked her kisses, but simply took them when he wanted them. . . . Pat had his good points as well as his bad ones.

"A man who asks for a kiss doesn't deserve one," she said to Staley, with a giggle, when she was out of his reach.

The Cains' huge house was packed with people when Lily and Staley Drtmond got there at 5 o'clock. Shadows danced on the drawn shades that were lighted goldenly from within.

The street outside was filled with motor cars that moved slowly up and down like barges through the blue river of the dusk.

The minute the door opened to let them in, the sound of chatter and laughter rushed out to them in waves. Someone was singing, "When Day Is Done" in a nasal soprano, and nobody was listening to it.

Love's Embers — Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" — By ADELE GARRISON

The Man With the Wolfhound Arrives With Credentials

MY first reaction to the sight of Eleanor Lincoln's guests was an admiring little tribute to the resourcefulness of the young man with the wolfhound. In record-breaking time he had made good his assertion that he would find somebody to vouch for him sufficiently to warrant our acquaintance with him. Mrs. Townsend, the owner of the smart motor, while not numbered among the most prominent members of the summer colony at Southampton, nevertheless possessed sufficient social standing, combined with an unusual endowment of common sense and practicality, to make it a certainty that "Mr. George Logan Jackson" had, indeed, been able to present to her the necessary credentials for his social sponsoring.

My second thought was a wonder if I were mistaken in thinking that there was a distinct gleam of mischievous triumph in Eleanor Lincoln's eyes as she introduced her guests to us, a little ceremony interrupted by Mrs. Townsend's cordial recognition of me as one whom she had met before.

"We were just coming to your house," she said, but it was young Mr. Jackson who a minute later supplied me with the reason for the proposed call.

"I would have been at your house before," he told me, with apparent earnestness, "only Mrs. Townsend was away from home. No one of the other people to whom I had letters was acquainted with you, and I saw from your face the other day that I must have someone whom you knew personally to vouch for me or never would I be able to tender you my apologies for Fedor's bad behavior in the railroad station."

There was amused whimsy in his eyes and voice, and as I saw Mrs. Townsend smiling at him and caught a flash of admiration in the quick, furtive glance which Mary threw in his direction, I realized that here was an extremely personable youth who was to be reckoned with wherever impressionable femininity was concerned.

But Eleanor Lincoln appeared to be absolutely unimpressed by the young man, and I quickly renewed the conviction I had held before that hers was the indifference of long acquaintance, probably close comradeship. For some reason best known to themselves these two strangely interesting young people were pretending never to have met. But a close look into the faces of both of them also convinced me that my mother-in-law's theory was utterly false. She had insisted that they were "members of a gang of crooks," and I bit back a smile at the remembrance of her terrified earnestness as I looked at the clean-cut six feet of striking young manhood which was young Jackson's, and the patrician beauty of Eleanor Lincoln's face.

With only one point of my mother-in-law's strictures did I agree. The names of these two young people were not "Jackson" and "Lincoln," though the English accent which they used in pronouncing both names was impeccable. That both were foreigners with unpronounceable names I was positive. I was equally sure that, despite Miss Lincoln's denial, they were both Transvanians, though far removed in the social scale from the two nondescript men of that nationality who were living in the shack on the farm back of ours.

There was confirmation of my theory in the bow which accompanied young Jackson's little speech and his gesture toward the dog, Fedor, now standing protectively by Eleanor Lincoln's side. No American—or Englishman—could have achieved just that combination of grace, empressement—and—flamboyance.

No one is safe!

Policeman, 'phone operator, housewife or millionaire—every one of us, no matter who we are, may offend unknowingly

Secrets about body odor everyone should know

THE secret behind many a failure is . . . . body odor.

People who offend are not wanted—either as employees or friends. You can readily appreciate why.

Yet, much as we abhor body odor, not one of us is safe from it. We have to perspire—or we'd die. And in winter, with activities indoors and warmer, stuffier rooms, body odor is more noticeable than ever.

Others detect body odor —the offender doesn't

Even on coldest days, our millions of pores give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

Whether we can see this body moisture or not, it is always odorous. And it shows no partiality. Without taking precautions, anyone—from day laborer to society leader—may offend.

	Body odor more noticeable in winter—due to stuffy rooms—closed windows.
1Qt.	Pores give off as much as a quart of waste a day—even in coldest weather.
	Now, a purifying toilet soap. Its bland antiseptic lather keeps you safe from body odor.

No fear of embarrassment

And, curiously enough, once an odor becomes familiar to us, our own sense of smell becomes deadened to it. That's why, very often, even fastidious people think they are safe—while actually they do offend.

Yet it's easy to keep away body odor. Simply wash and bathe often with the most delightful toilet soap in the world—Lifebuoy—it deodorizes.

The same mild, antiseptic lather that helps protect health by removing germs—prevents body odor by purifying pores.

Complexions, too, keep fresh and clear with Lifebuoy. Millions find it ideal for every toilet purpose.

A hygienic scent you'll enjoy

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's pleasant clean scent, which tells you Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing. And Lifebuoy instantly works up into a thick, creamy lather—even in hardest water. Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

Bond for Phillips was set at $2,000 and for Anderson at $1,000. Both were arrested by Narcotic Agents W. T. Duffy and Joseph L. Colclish.

PUBLIC HEARING ON VOTE LAW

Seeking constructive suggestions for improvements in the election laws, the Pennsylvania Election Law Commission, which was created by the 1927 session of the Legislature, will hold a public hearing Tuesday in the rooms of the Allegheny County Bar Association, City-County Building.

The need of definite suggestions and information was stressed by Senator Horace W. Shantz, chairman, who pointed out as an illustration that while many witnesses before the commission have urged voting machines, none have been able to estimate the cost or suggest whether the state, county or municipality should pay for the machines.

"I do not cite this as an argument against voting machine," said Schantz, "but merely to illustrate that none of the witnesses who have dwelt on that subject have carried their ideas to a logical conclusion."

85 YEARS of Life Insurance IDEALS and SERVICE!

AN ideal became a reality when, on February 1st, 1843, "The Mutual Life of New York" issued its first policy. The business of life insurance on the mutual plan started in America then and there.

Priority in its field is not the Company's claim to greatness—age in itself is no great distinction. The Mutual Life began with high ideals of business conduct, which still prevail. It aims at quality and to be highly honorable in all its dealings.

In its relations with policyholders and their representatives The Mutual Life has an outstanding record; and it quotes with pride from the report of the last periodical examination of its affairs by the Insurance Department of the State of New York:

"A large volume of new business, selected according to the company's high standards was placed on the books. The rate of mortality has declined to a very low point and as a result it was possible to distribute to policyholders dividends according to successive increasing scales. Investments are particularly well secured. At the same time policy contracts have been liberalized and clarified, and the treatment accorded to the policyholders and their representatives has been eminently fair and just."

Expansion of Life a Product of Study

WHEN you enter one of the buildings of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington your gaze is caught by this inscription painted on the end window of the children's department: "Knowledge begins in wonder."

DR. COPELAND

I am inclined to believe that all knowledge begins in wonder. We wonder how the birds can maintain their flight through the air. Wondering about this, man begins to experiment and, after decades of experimentation, the airplane is developed.

It is not uncommon to hear a boy say: "I wonder if I could learn to skate, or to run an automobile." As soon as he begins to wonder about it, he starts to gain information and to widen his field of knowledge regarding this particular thing.

I can imagine Adam and Eve wondering about a great many things. When they had wondered long enough they sought knowledge. Eve's excursion in this field proved disastrous, but the wondering of our first parents has grown gradually into the remarkable store of knowledge the present day human being possesses.

I wish every one of my readers could know and appreciate the extent of investigation being made into the causes of disease. We can imagine that every laboratory scientist has begun by wondering what is the cause of this or that human ailment. Knowledge grows from the seed of wonder.

Progress depends upon imagination. An unimaginative person is not likely to go far. There can be no ambition without imagination. There is not likely to be accomplishment without ambition. In the last analysis then, what we have and what we are begins in our wondering if we cannot elevate ourselves.

Society has much to boast of. Remarkable progress has been made in the knowledge of disease and in the means for its control and prevention. The span of life has been extended. Today the expectation of life is 25 years more than it was 50 years ago.

But we are not satisfied with what we have. We wonder if we cannot do better. When we begin to wonder our minds develop, and out of the fulness of our thought there come plans for better surroundings, finer homes, more wholesome food, and better treatment of the human body. Wondering how we can better the conditions of the human family, we start at once to widen our knowledge of how to better these conditions.

Are you satisfied with the things you have. Are you satisfied with your surroundings? Are you satisfied with the knowledge you have of how to live?

There is such a thing as divine discontent. I hope you will begin to wonder whether you are living right or not. When you begin to wonder about the important things in life you will seek ways of improving your surroundings. Your wonder will lead you to widen your knowledge.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Thursday, February 9

Will is the prince and Wit the counselor.—Davies.

WITH sagacity and wise counsel the hazardous affairs of this day may be turned to achievement and success. But hasty, ill-considered and abrupt moves may beget loss and disruption. This applies especially to sudden changes and to speculative enterprises or risks of money in any manner. Safeguard employment and take new projects under consideration for future constructive effort.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year calling for wise counsel, good judgment and well-considered moves and changes. While there is promise of new enterprises it would be well to carefully consider these for the future, but to shun all speculative measures at present.

A child born on this day may tend to be bold, adventurous and independent, leaning to originality and speculation, but it should be trained to make haste slowly and in thrift.

Eugenic Mother Doubly Unfair—Fay King

By FAY KING

A WIDOW not wishing to marry again and longing for a child has defied the conventions and picked a man for his health and good qualities to be the father of that child.

The child is born. The father is unknown. And there is a great difference of opinion regarding this widow's eugenic child.

Some consider her immoral.

I consider her unfair not only to the child, but to herself.

She can never know the full joy of motherhood because the greatest joy of motherhood is sharing that happiness with the man that you love and who is the father of your child.

Eugenic children will never become the vogue, because the average woman only longs to bear children to the man she loves. And because they are the children of the man she loves they are dearer to her.

One has only to look at the proud and happy little married couples out together with their youngsters to see how beautiful and wonderful is the mutual love and protection that links their love.

The woman who raises a child alone misses half the joy of motherhood, for it must be shared and mingled with the love of the child's father also.

Even the little mother who has lost her husband through death, has still the sublime happiness of feeling that he is watching over and loving them in the spirit and she can teach the little one to love his memory.

The woman who is satisfied with love without marriage, or a child without a husband and father to share the love and responsibility, is merely a woman who is satisfied with less than she is entitled to.

She is as unfair to herself as she is to the child!

Now that the kissing is more and more intensive, the emotion that accompanies it is so apathetic, that it would take a pulmotor to keep it alive after the first novelty has worn off.

Indeed, there ISN'T any novelty! Kissing has become so standardized, that, if you shut your eyes, you can't tell whether it's last year's left-over or this year's White Hope, who is kissing you.

HELEN ROWLAND

Quantity has replaced quality; and it is harder to get a kiss with the genuine old romantic flavor than to find genuine Chippendales or real maple syrup, or pre-war champagne.

A man's love is no longer measured by his attentions, his flowers, his vows, or his tenderness, but just by the wear and tear on your lipstick.

After the first forty-seven petting parties, a kiss must be just about as thrilling as eating a fried egg every morning for breakfast. Or a musical jug with only one tune—and that gone flat on the high notes.

Considering all the kisses there are in the world, today, you'd fancy that a girl could afford to be fastidious and take her CHOICE, instead of feeling that she has to accept any old brand that is offered her.

Yet all the sad young men assure me that they are sick unto death of having to make love to every girl they dance with.

And all the sad young women assure me that they are cloyed, fed up, and bored to death at the prospect of being petted and pawed by every man they meet.

And nobody knows WHO started it all—"the hen or the egg!"

But one thing is certain, the women alone, can STOP it. For a man is like an automobile; once he gets started in any direction, he will keep right on going, until somebody puts on the brakes or throws a spoke in the wheels.

It was always hard enough to extract any really thrilling love-making from a man. And, now that the canned "line" and the canned kiss have been standardized a girl's life is a long, dry, dreary journey through a desert of platitudes and mechanical caresses.

And for this deadly repetition, this dull merry-go-round of imitation thrills and certain disillusionment, women are exchanging all the wonder and the mystery and the glamor and the glory of ROMANCE!

Alas, for all the sad young lovers!

"She looks like a million on $20 a week"

"When I was living at home I always washed my precious chiffon stockings with Lux to make them last as long as possible, but my service weight stockings were done in the regular wash with cake soap. But it seemed to me that they soon lost their lustre and looked faded, so I began to wash them all with Lux.

"Shortly after that I came to New York to work. My whole wardrobe was on a very meager scale. For instance, I rarely had more than 3 pairs of stockings at a time.

"Yet several times I have heard comments on my wonderful-looking stockings, and only the other day one of the girls asked me how I managed to look 'like a million' on $20 a week!

"The chief reason is that I never take chances when washing my clothes. Dresses, even the $9.45 kind, as well as stockings, wear twice as long, washed in Lux, and always look nicer, too."—Dorothy Ranson, 99 Joralemon St., Brooklyn.

[New York theatrical producers find that stockings washed in Lux wear twice as long! Now every musical show in New York uses Lux for washing silk stockings.]

"Her 'surprise' spoiled my dress"

"A year ago I bought a pink cotton print for a dress for my little six-year-old Julia as well as one for myself. I wore mine all winter as a housedress and it stayed so fresh, washed in Lux, that I took it with me this summer on a visit. It was so pretty that I enjoyed wearing it just as much as my printed silks.

"When washday came around it was quite soiled, and to surprise me the friend I was visiting washed it with the soap chips she ordinarily uses.

"And I was surprised! My dress came out so faded looking. Little Julia's dress didn't get the surprise washing and it's still fresh and bright . . . thanks to Lux! I realize now more than ever how much I save in using Lux for colored cottons as well as for silks and woolens."—Mrs. Anna Wakefield, 907 Bryn Mawr Road, Pittsburgh, Pa.

BEST ... RGH WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1928 TWENTY-ONE

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

THOUGH the scheduled appearance in Pittsburgh tomorrow of Knute Rockne, famous football coach and general athletic director at the University of Notre Dame, will be made primarily for a purpose not connected with sports, it will serve as a pleasing reminder to the fans of the district that relations between the colleges of this city and the South Bend institution that is noted for its championship teams in various lines of intercollegiate athletics are becoming stronger and broader from year to year.

Knute Rockne.

These relations will not be confined to the football and basketball events in which both Pitt and Carnegie Tech are slated to meet the Hoosiers.

THE Panthers in particular are rapidly broadening their relations with Notre Dame, a step that

W.-J. Hit By Grid Changes

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 8.—Andy Kerr, head coach of football at Washington and Jefferson College, is of the opinion the new compromise ruling on the lateral pass has sounded the death knell of that style of offense.

"Last year the committee encouraged the lateral pass, which made it possible for those teams employing it to present a more diversified and spectacular attack," said Kerr. "The compromise rule has taken away that which was added a year ago. It sounds the death knell of the lateral pass, I think. To use the double and triple pass is made doubly dangerous by the revised lateral pass rule and I think the tendency will be to discard it entirely. A hardship is worked on those elevens which were trying to utilize its advantages."

Discussing the change in the "muffed punt rule," Coach Kerr said he did not see that it would have any effect on the handling of punts.

"The revision of the forward pass rule to curb the 'screen pass' is a good one, if enforced," is Kerr's opinion. "It will make it possible for officials to distinguish illegal interference on the part of the offensive side."

W. & J. used the double and triple pass almost entirely in its attack last fall. Coach Kerr's opinion indicates that he is preparing to discard them, except on rare occasions.

Mrs. Riley Loses To Miss Bejach In Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 8.—With one exception, favorites in the Miami Beach women's golf tournament continued their match play today.

The one favorite eliminated was Mrs. L. G. Riley, Pittsburgh city champion, who lost to Miss E. Lucille Bejach, Pittsburgh, 5 and 4, in the first round of match play yesterday. Mrs. Riley defeated Miss Bejach in an extra-hole final match for the Steel City title last summer.

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 8.—Two Pittsburgh golfers were eliminated from the second division of the women's annual St. Valentine's tournament here yesterday. Mrs. G. A. Magoon was beaten by Mrs. H. C. Buckminster of Boston by 3 and 2, while Miss Louise Fownes was eliminated by Mrs. Herman Ellis of Pinehurst, 8 and 6.

Title Go Likely Here

MIDGET WOLGAST of Philadelphia, who won a referee's decision over Willie Davies at Philadelphia recently, may meet Willie again here next Monday night in a battle for the state featherweight title.

Matchmaker Johnny Ray of the Motor Square Club has signed Wolgast and is awaiting confirmation of Davies' end of the match from Jim Buchanan, Willie's manager.

If the bout is closed, Ray will ask permission of the State Athletic Commission to bill it as being for the championship.

LOCAL PRO GETS WIN AFTER SIX TRIES

By Universal Service.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 8.—Although he wobbled precariously during his final round, finishing eight strokes over par, "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn has finally won himself a Texas Open title, after six straight years of striving. Bill had an aggregate score of 297 blows for the 72 holes of play, which ended yesterday, just one better than his closest rival, "Light Horse Harry" Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., whose labors netted him a 298.

Bill's victory, which added $1,500 to his winter earnings, was partly the result of a record-smashing 68 on his third round. But it was mostly due to the failure of any of his fellow professionals to shoot the size of their hat in the final round, when Bill struggled around with a very inelegant 79.

COOPER LOSES CHANCE

Opportunity slapped Harry Cooper right in the face on the final 18, but he couldn't accept the challenge. The best the Buffalo Blade could scrape together was a 77, enabling him to wind up in second place and pocket $800. Harry barely missed a 30-footer on the final green that would have given him a tie.

Sarah Davis, who is playing side center for the Young Women's Hebrew Association sextet, which meets the Goldenson Vanities tonight on the Y. M. H. Miss Tolochko (above) is to bear the brunt of attack tonight. One of the best scorers in the league, the Y. W. H. A. girls are relying on her to upset the Vanities.

BOXER'S JAW BROKEN

READING, Pa., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Jess Stringham, an Oklahoma boxer, flattened Arizona Kid, of Chester, Pa., in the fourth round of a bout at a local club last night. After arising from his slumbers, the Chester boxer complained that his jaw was broken. Dr. Morris Wenger, club physician, confirming the injury. The bone was splintered.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, former bantamweight champion of the world, and Bushy Graham, of Utica, also known as Mickey Garcia, have been ordered to appear before the New York State Athletic Commission at next Tuesday's meeting when the suspensions now charged against them will be formally lifted.

PITT AND TECH FIVES IN BATTLE TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER.

"A SMILE," quoth John Irwin, who guides the basketball destinies of Carnegie Tech, "may be a fine thing to sub for an umbrella on a rainy, rainy day, but it's heckish poor protection when it's raining field goals in a basketball game. You can't sit on the bench and smile away a dozen or so hoops."

And John figures that unless his team snaps into it tonight, that there will be a rain of baskets to further deluge the Tartan court hopes. John's team plays Pitt again, in the second game of the annual three-game series. The game is scheduled for the Tech gym.

So far this year Pitt has ridden rough shod over all opponents, hanging up 11 pelts without suffering defeat. On the other hand, the Tartans have taken six successive smacks on the whiskers, and have yet to come out of an engagement holding other than the muddy end of the stick.

As far as Pitt-Tech basketball relations are concerned, the Panthers

Miss Sybil Ruth Scher, daughter of the Y. M. H. A. athletic director, will be rooting for the Y. W. H. A. girls to turn the tables on the Goldenson Vanities tonight for a defeat suffered earlier in the season. It is needless to say that the youngster has made a decided hit as mascot of the team.

PANTHERS OPPOSED TO CAGE SERIES

By CARL W. SHATTO.

THE University of Pittsburgh will reject the challenge of Auburn (Alabama Polytechnic) to a four-game series for the national collegiate basketball championship, Elmer F. Blakeslee, director of athletics at Pitt, said today.

In announcing receipt of the challenge, Blakeslee said that Pitt does not look with favor upon post-season athletic competitions and that the Southerners' invitation to a titular series is almost certain to be turned down by the Panther athletic council.

The challenge received by Pitt suggests that four games be played, two to be staged in Birmingham and two in Pittsburgh. No dates were suggested, other than that the games be played at the close of the regular season.

"To accept a challenge to a national title series at this time," said Athletic Director Blakeslee, "would be unethical as well as contrary to Pitt's sports policy. The Panthers still must oppose such worthy foemen as Notre Dame, Penn State, W. & J., Grove City and others, and to accept a challenge to a national title event at this early date would be to insinuate that we hold these great teams cheaply, and that we are confident of finishing the season without suffering defeat.

"Not understand," Blakeslee continued, "that Pitt expects defeat. We consider the present Pitt floor team a truly great team, a team worthy of the highest honor and of such efficiency that no defeat can be expected. But worthy foes are worthy foes, and we will be satisfied to give each consideration in its turn.

"I think our stand can best be explained by saying that Pitt does not wish to make little of regular season opponents by accepting a challenge now, and should the Panthers go through the season they will have a claim to greatness so sufficient that glory

Heckman Off For Coast

By HARRY KECK,
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

BILL HECKMAN is leaving us for Sunny California (free advt.) and he may move there permanently.

Bill is the veteran manager of local boxers and himself a former boxer, who until recently was the pilot of Tommy Crowley, who now has gone to shift for himself in the Middle West and South.

Bill always has had a hankering to return to the Coast, which he visited as a youngster, boxing his way around the country, and the other day he had a chance to sell his barber shop in Water street and did so. Now he's ready for the big trip. He's leaving tonight, with Los Angeles his destination. He will look about a bit out there and if he can get a good business location will remain there and handle some boxers on the side, just as he has been doing here all along. If not, he will just call it a pleasure trip and return home when he gets tired of roaming about.

Bill is well liked in local flatic cir-

BOWLING and BILLIARDS

THE first big bowling fixture of the season got under way at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the Penn recreation alleys, 810 Penn avenue, when doubles teams sounded the opening guns in the twenty-first annual Tri-State tenpin tournament.

Local pin-toppers will monopolize the tourney spotlight today, tomorrow and Friday, but on Saturday the alleys will be turned over to an army of invaders from all parts of the tristate district. The entry list is one of the largest in the history of the event and marks turned in by prize-seekers in recent practice tests indicate that the scoring will be high.

The St. Joseph's and St. George's teams are putting on a close race for first place in the South Pittsburgh Catholic Lyceum League. Only a game separates the rival pin-toppling combinations as they turn into the home stretch.

In the Allegheny County League, Pittsburgh's "big league" tenpin circuit, Votel's Ko Ko Mo Kids, nationally renowned, are finding the opposition no "push-over." Muck Brothers and the Social Tigers stay right at their heels and refuse to be shaken off.

Jake Schaefer, who recently wrested the world's 18.2 balk line title from Welker Cochran, will not defend his crown until April, at which time he is to engage Edouard Horemans in a challenge match in San Francisco. The match would have taken place early in March had not Horemans agreed to overlook the rule specifying that a champion shall defend his title within 60 days after winning it. Schaefer now is en-

NEW YORK BOARD FINDS GLOVES O. K.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—After a critical inspection by the New York State Athletic Commission, boxing gloves as used in Metropolitan bouts have been found up to standard.

Reports that the "leathers" failed to weigh the regulation six ounces brought an investigation yesterday. Gloves seized at some of the clubs were pronounced to be within the weight limit.

One of the sets of gloves scrutinized came from the bloody tangle of the Leo Lomski-Mike McTigue scrap last Friday.

IN A letter to this column, Floyd (Pete) Scott, outfielder-catcher, who came to the Pirates from the Cubs in the trade, tells of his delight in being transferred to the Bushwhackers. Pete's home town is Stockton, Cal., which is not far from Paso Robles training camp.

"Surely glad to be with Pittsburgh," writes Pete. "Fine bunch of fellows, and with Adams I think we ought to show them a little speed in the old league. Have done nothing but hunt since last October. Will miss Charlies Grimm, for he is a wonderful fellow. I am looking forward to a good year with the Champions.

JOE MCARTHY, Cub manager, en route to the coast, stopped off at the home office in Chicago long enough to iron out some details with President Veeck and to bolster the confidence of Chicago fans, who fear the Bruins will be lost in the flag shuffle of 1928.

MCARTHY carried lots of optimism, according to Wayne K. Otto of the Chicago Daily News.

"Nothing to worry about—now, at least," said Pilot Joe. "I might mention that some of the boys seem to have overlooked this fellow McMillan. Why, Mac can play third base as well as second base, and should anything happen to Grimm, Johnny Butler is no slouch at first.

"Maguire is all right. I've seen him in action enough to convince myself he is ready. He's big, can hit, knows how to make those double plays at the keystone and can move fast. Just a big cat like Traynor of Pittsburgh, unless he's slowed down during the winter."

PITT

are far and away in the lead in the matter of games won over a period of 13 or so years that the two schools have met on the court. Pitt has won a total of 29 ball games and lost five. The best Tech has ever been able to do in the annual city series has been to break even. Last year and the year before, they won one out of three engagements.

Carnegie will very likely give Pitt a tougher argument this evening than they did in the first game, some three or four weeks past. The team is in better physical condition, and has had the advantage of two weeks of hard drill. Hitchcock and Harpster, who played in the first game with only a few days practice, will be far more potent on the attack than they were before. White, a good guard, is bound to show improvement.

While these varsities are battling here, the other local collegiate quintet, the Direful Dukes of Duquesne, will be in Waynesburg for an all-important game with the Yellow Jackets. The game is a Conference affair, and means everything to both clubs.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

will be heartily approved by the college sport followers of this section.

As is well known, the Panther football team is to appear in South Bend in 1929, and Rockne's gridiron stars will play the Panthers here in 1930.

Not only will the basketball teams of the two universities clash here on February 18, but on the same night, the Pitt swimming team will meet the Indiana natators in South Bend.

And on top of all that, arrangements are pending for a tennis meeting of the Pitt and Notre Dame net teams the coming spring.

WORD has been received here that the crack Notre Dame basketball team will be without the services of one of its star regulars when it comes here to play Carnegie Tech and Pitt, respectively, on Friday and Saturday nights of next week.

Pete Scott.

Coach Keogan's passers suffered more than their fourth defeat in their last 42 starts when they were defeated by Michigan State, 26 to 16, last Friday night. They lost their crack center, John Colerich, who was also high-point man on the quintet.

During the first five minutes of play, Colerich's left wrist was injured, and though he gamely tried to finish the contest he was forced to retire in the second half. An examination disclosed that the large bone in the wrist was fractured, and the attending doctor announced that Colerich will not be able to play for five or six weeks.

DONIE BUSH'S decision to take Pete Scott to Paso Robles with the vrst Pirate squad, meaning an intention to work Scott as a catcher in drilling the pitchers and possibly to use him as a backstop instead of an outfielder during the regular season, indicates a catching situation that is not confined to the Pittsburgh club.

In fact, there appears to be a scarcity of good maskmen throughout both major leagues. The teams that are fortified behind the bat to their own satisfaction are very much in the minority.

No fewer than six of the major league clubs put in claims for catchers at the last draft meeting, and three of the six draftees are receivers who were in the big show before but were sent back to the minors. They were not good enough for the fast set then, but there is an emergency now and they are to be tried over again.

Jim Cooney.

ONE peculiar case in this respect was the action of the Boston American League club in drafting John Heving from the Toledo club of the American Association after releasing him to that outfit earlier in the year.

Other backstops recalled for this year after being dropped as not good enough for the majors are Clyde Manion, former Tiger, drafted by the Browns from Newark, N. J., and Hugh McMullen, former Giant drafted by the Senators from Louisville.

THE Waners, the Sewells and other brother acts in baseball this year will have a new set of rivals, as the sale of Shortstop Jim Cooney to the Braves by the Cardinals will put Jim on the same club that employs his brother, John.

The Cooney family has been well represented in big league baseball, as James Cooney, Sr., the father of Jim and John, now with the Braves, was an infielder for the Chicago Nationals under Cap Anson's management in 1890, 1891 and 1892, having as team mates such famous players of that period as Anson, Pfeffer, Dahlen, Kittridge, Stenzel, Burns, Hutchinson, Wilmot, Luby, Inks, Ryan, Jiggs Parrott, and the late Ad Gumbert of this city.

FRED FITZSIMMONS, Giant pitcher, ranged only ninth among the National League pitchers last season in the matter of percentage, with 17 games won and 10 lost, and was reached for an average of 3.71 earned runs per nine innings, but Manager John McGraw is counting upon him to be the leading hurler of the New York staff this year.

Fred Fitzsimmons.

McGraw says Fitzsimmons was merely a case of a fine pitcher having a lot of tough luck, and he expresses the opinion that Fitzsimmons will give them all a hard fight for top honors this year.

THE pitcher himself also is confident of having a big year and and bases his hopes on the knuckle ball.

"I had that knuckle ball from the beginning," declared Fitz. "Had it when I was a kid at home. A boy on our town lot team taught me, and I improved it year by year until I was signed by Muskegon in the Central League.

"After two years there I went to Indianapolis. Nobody ever helped me except that kid at home. I had to learn for myself about pitching professional ball. A fellow has to have faith in himself and take hard knocks to get anywhere in baseball. Yes, and in any other line of work, I suppose."

JAKE SCHAEFER, champion, and Edouard Horemans of Belgium, challenger, are going to set aside the rules governing competition for the world's 18.2 billiard championship. Under the regulations Schaefer would be required to defend his title against the challenge of Horemans before March 15 or forfeit his crown, but by mutual agreement the match will not take place until after April 1.

Jake Schaefer.

The cause of the postponement is the fact that Schaefer has been booked for a long series of exhibition 18.1 matches with Welker Cochran, which will extend almost to the end of March.

If arrangements now pending do not go amiss, Schafer and Cochran will appear in Pittsburgh on their tour, and display their skill at 18.1 for the edification of local fans.

among the leaders since the tournament started, quietly sneaked in with a 75 for an aggregate of 300 strokes and third money of $50.

MacDonald Smith, a pre-tournament favorite, shot his last round in 75, giving him a total of 302 strokes and fourth place.

Tommy Armour, national open champion of the Congressional Country Club, finished in a three-cornered tie with Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., and Ed Dudley, Hollywood, Cal., for fifth place, each with 304 strokes.

Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, Mich., and J. W. Kenney, Toledo, O., deadlocked for sixth money, each with 305 strokes. Billy Burke, Port Chester, N. Y., and Tom Lally of the San Antonio Country Club, each received $100 for finishing with 306 blows. Those were the last cash prizes to crash the century mark.

RAY GIVES UP HIS SPEED CAREER

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Dr. Otto Peltzer, famous German middle-distance runner, refused to comment today on the jibes of Ray Dodge, veteran American runner, who claims the doctor "elbowed" him out of victory in their recent meeting in New York.

Dodge, who is the German's most formidable opponent in a 1,000-meter race scheduled for the Illinois Athletic Club games here Friday, declared he will beat the doctor and then retire from the track.

Dr. Peltzer arrived here yesterday from Syracuse, N. Y., and went into immediate seclusion. He checked in five hours early to avoid a reception committee. Later in the day he visited a private gymnasium to train for his race with Dodge.

Dodge's announced intention to retire, after beating the German athlete, caused a sensation here. Johnny Behr, athletic coach at the I. A. C., advised track fans, however, not to take Dodge's retirement seriously.

"It is not the first time he has retired," said Behr.

Speaking of the Millrose games in New York last week, Dodge said:

"I led Peltzer until the last turn. Then he elbowed me while trying to pass and pushed me completely off the board track onto the tile infield.

"My spikes, not being made to dig into tile, slipped. Sparks flew in every direction. I lost about 10 yards. This I was able to make up in part, but not enough to beat the doctor to the tape."

In conclusion, Dodge said:

"Business forces my retirement from the track, but I intend to go out in a blaze of glory."

PADDOCK INJURES LEG

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Sprint fans who expected to get a line on Charley Paddock's running form here next Saturday will have to wait a bit longer. The holder of the American A. A. U. recognized record of 9.5 seconds for the 100-yard dash injured his left leg yesterday and will not run until the A. A. U. relays at the Coliseum here February 18. The injury is not serious, Dr. Albert Weston, who attended Paddock said.

NEWARK GAMES TONIGHT

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Headed by many track notables of the East, including Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A., Phil Edwards of New York University and Chet Bowman, the eighth annual indoor games of the Newark Athletic Club will be held in the One Hundred and Thirteenth Regiment Armory here tonight.

Hahn will start from scratch with Edwards in a 1,000-yard event which will be the Boston runner's first handicap race this season.

Harold Osborn is entered in a high jump handicap along with Gail Robinson, Metropolitan indoor champion.

CALDWELL, YALE STAR, MAY SIGN WITH YANKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Bruce Caldwell, of Yale, who is almost as proficient at baseball as he is a football, may sign with the New York Yankees after graduating from college next June. He is understood to have promised Manager Miller Huggins that he will cast his lot with the world's champions if he decides to turn professional.

MINOR LEAGUE HURLER LOSES SIGHT OF EYE

The most informative book ever published in our generation on life, habits, instincts, sex and love!

WHAT lies back of your instincts, your emotions, your habits, your passions? What effect has heredity on your life and conduct? How much do you know of the workings of your mind and the mechanism of your thoughts and actions?

Here at last is a work that draws aside the curtain of silence and mystery that science has hitherto hung around human behavior. It is without doubt the greatest work ever written for general public reading on the nature and habits of mankind.

Only a great scientist and great writer combined would have been able to give you, as Dr. Dorsey has done in his extraordinary book, such a brilliant outline of all human life and yet give it to you in a clearly written style that holds you by the sheer power of its keen understanding and its great dramatic intensity.

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

THE Scarlet Hurricane, representing the Duquesne Lafayettes, champions of the Allegheny County League, which swept through the first round of play leaving nothing but destruction and desolation in its wake, proved a mere zephyr in its attempt to sweep aside the Enoch Rauhs at Columbus Temple last night. The Rauhs, playing their finest game of the year, handed the Allegheny County League champions their worst defeat of their career as a first-class team, limiting the losers to only one field goal in three periods of play, to triumph by a score of 31 to 19.

Possession of the ball is nine-tenths of basketball, and the Rauhs last night showed their supporters that they can pass the rubber and leather sphere with the best of them. They had the Lafayettes bewildered from the first whistle and were never in danger of being overtaken.

The Lafayettes, known as one of the best passing quintets organized in this section, failed to function in their customary manner and were a beaten team from the outset. Their passing was faulty throughout and their shots seldom came near their marks. The defeat was the first the Lafayettes had suffered in the second round of play and places the Rauhs in a good position to enter the eliminations at the close of the season.

CONSPICUOUS in the brilliant basketball exhibition displayed by the Rauhs last night were Johnny Serbin and Lou Alman, veteran stars of the winners. Serbin, a mere midget in comparison with his opponents in the Allegheny County League, paved the way for the Rauhs to amass a comfortable lead in the first half, while Lou Alman took up the burden in the second half in a manner that brought the supporters of the club to their feet.

The Rauhs worked like an inspired team against the Lafayettes, every man contributing his share to upset the league champions. The lineup of Serbin, Miller, M. Paris, Alman and W. Paris started the contest and were in there battling for points when the final whistle announced them winners by 11 points.

Never a player of the flashy type, but one of those passers who plays consistently good basketball, Serbin last night convinced followers of the Rauhs that he ranks with the leading forwards in this vicinity. Serbin was a thorn in the side of the Lafayettes from the first whistle, his floor work and shooting being responsible in a large measure for the well-merited Rauh victory. When he was checked in the second half, Alman came through when necessary.

STRIB LANDS AGAIN

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 8.—W. L. (Young) Stribling, heavyweight contender, of Macon, Ga., knocked out Sailor Tom Maxted, of Newark, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. It was necessary for the seconds of both principals to help Maxted to his corner after the kayo.

Lead Hangs In Balance

By JULIUS LEVIN

THE J. J. Mieles, champions of the P. & O. League last winter and already assured of a place in the title playoffs this season as a result of capturing the laurels in the first round of play, stake all their hopes for the second-round honors in their important league battle with the Sumer Somermans at Columbus Temple tonight.

The contest, which has stirred up considerable interest throughout local basketball circles, brings together two of the strongest contenders for the second half championship and followers of the respective quintets are predicting one of the best games of the season.

The Mieles and Somermans each have suffered one defeat in the second round of the P. & O. League and inasmuch as the contestants tonight are being pressed close by the Sianos, neither can afford to lose a decision at this stage.

SOMERMANS FAVORED

Performances in the second round of the P. & O. League race indicate that the Somermans will take the floor tonight a slight favorite over the Mieles. The Mieles suffered a close defeat at the hands of the Sianos, while the Somermans in turn defeated the Sianos. The victor tonight will take sole possession of first place.

Followers of the Somermans are looking for Patsy Siegle, former Sharon flash, to strike his natural stride against the Mieles. Siegle made his debut against the Sianos last Thursday night and while he was checked during the greater part of the contest he managed to score the field goal that sent them down to defeat.

Siegle is a capable basketball player, in fact one of the best in this section of the state. Once he becomes accustomed to the Somermans' style of play he is going to prove a tower of strength to them.

The Mieles likewise have been showing steady improvement after hitting a slump in the second round and if their sharpshooters are in form tonight they stand an excellent chance of upsetting their rivals.

engaged in a series of exhibition matches with Cochran, and Horrmans shoot to sanction the postponement rather than interfere with Ake's money-making program.

The American Bowling Congress tournament will not open in Kansas City until next month, but already a new tournament record has been established. The new mark was set when 1,216 five-man teams filed entries. Pittsburgh is to be well represented, and A. B. C. records prompt the belief that much of the prize cash will find its way into local bowlers' pockets.

Allen Hall's success and Otto Reiseil's failure are highlights of the American Three-Cushion League competition. Hall, youthful and formerly an off-and-on performer, continues to set the pace, while Reiseil, veteran world's champion, is a poor fifth.

Entrants in Dwyer's individual bowling championships, an annual fixture, to be rolled in New York on March 2-5, probably will have a few Pittsburghers for opponents.

Bowlers who patronize the Capital Alleys in Homestead recently were given a rare treat by George Lawry when he turned in a duckpin score of 285. George got a spare in the first frame, followed with 10 straight strikes and finished with a five-pin hit. Mike Kostra holds the season's record for three games at the Capital alleys, turning in games of 256, 254 and 139 for a 649 total.

gained in post-season conflict would be superfluous."

The challenge from Auburn resulted from the nation-wide attention Pitt gained in piling up 11 straight victories against representative teams of the Mid-West, the Tri-State District and of the East. Pitt's claim to a national record for high scoring, which Auburn disputed, prompted the Southerners to act.

SUITS—IN THE METROPOLITAN MANNER

The Cornell Suit, worn with a Satoy Topper is eminently correct. Each by Society Brand.

CORNELL SUITS AND SAVOY TOPCOATS

Made by Society Brand

THERE is grace and youth in the Cornell suit . . . The verve, the snap, the unobtrusive swagger of well-bred youth . . . Yet it has nothing of flamboyancy . . . An executive fifty years young could wear it at board meetings and yet command respect . . . Many do . . . The cut brings out the youth that is in man . . . emphasizing the boyish sparkle in his eyes . . . the happy vigor of his poise.

The Cornell two-button coat emphasizes, too, the spring refinements . . . the wider lapels . . . more masculine . . . smarter but not extreme. Everything that a man could wish in a suit . . . And just that is what the Society Savoy gives in topcoats . . . Free and easy lines with particular attention to a generous length. Both assure "the cut of the clothes that count."

In each of these . . . tailored by Society Brand . . . there is not the faintest suggestion of the extreme, yet they are exceptionally smart. And in that lies the so-hard-to-achieve success of the well-dressed man. In the Gimbel Men's Store these models are priced at fifty dollars or higher.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Pacific Lines Cut Time to Bring West Nearer East.

—By B. C. FORBES—

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—How's this for evidence of growth?

Every two and a half hours for Pacific's Pacific lines alone have put a new freight car to work. Every six days a new passenger car has been put into service. Every nine days a new locomotive has taken the rails.

Also the Pacific Fruit Express Company has purchased refrigerator cars at the rate of seven every day for five years.

The latter cost $44,280,933; the former $61,105,715.

These are impressive figures. Such expenditures would not have been made had not traffic and traffic prospects fully justified them.

THE railroads serving the Pacific have awakened to the importance of reducing their running time, thus bringing California's sunshine nearer easterners and reducing somewhat the time advantage enjoyed by Florida.

Recently the schedule was cut by the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and the Santa Fe, and next month these same roads will lop off another hour and three quarters between the coast and Chicago going eastward, making the time 61 hours and 15 minutes.

I joshed one audience on the fact that Californians apparently were in a greater hurry to get eastward than they were to get back home, as the running time westbound is not to be reduced.

FROM Paul Shoup, the operating head of the Southern Pacific, come these facts for readers of this column:

"As a result of good crops in 1927, with a record production of fruits and vegetables, the total traffic of Southern Pacific's lines (west of El Paso, Tucumcari, N. M., and Ogden, Utah) slightly exceeded 1926's despite slackening in some lines of business, and this result typifies those of other roads serving this western territory.

"Net revenues, however, decreased, due to wage increases granted under arbitration, decreased rates and motor competition, both commercial and private. Wage increases will cost our Pacific lines alone more than $2,000,000.

"Pacific coast railroads face a difficult problem in their inability to compete for traffic now moving through the Panama Canal, because the railroads have not yet been allowed to make effective rates."

IN addition to the statistics given in an earlier column, the following facts furnished by Mr. Shoup give insight into conditions. Returns from wheat, barley and hay have been good. Rice growers got good prices for 60 per cent of their crop, but rains later caused some loss. Heavy potato production everywhere has meant poor returns. Live stock interests have done excellently. Range conditions are good.

California, the country's leading lettuce producer, shipped almost 30,000 cars in 1927 and expects to do even better this year—an excellent showing. Arizona is also strongly to the front with lettuce.

The cotton yield last year was 542,000 bales, against 329,113 in 1926 in California and Arizona, but this year's crop promises to be larger.

Lumber had an unsatisfactory year. Demand has slackened, particularly in California, due to slowing down in building after five years of great activity. Copper and lead prices have been low. Arizona's copper output fell from 712,500,000 pounds in 1926 to 665,000,000 last year, and lead from 19,500,000 to 12,275,000 pounds. Latterly the market has improved somewhat.

Bank clearings for the 15 principal cities along the Pacific lines increased 1.1 per cent over 1926.

THIS column aims to give a true picture of conditions in the different parts of the country visited.

STOCKS CLIMB AFTER EARLY TUMBLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Sharp reactions took place in many stocks during the early part of today's stock market, but a recovery set in during the afternoon as pools resumed operations in some of the recent favorites. Passing of the American Sugar Refining dividend was followed by a break of 11¼ points in that stock, but it failed to halt the recovery which was under way when the announcement was made. Trading, which had been conducted at a brisk pace during the morning, turned dull on the rally.

The weekly steel trade reviews reported further improvement in the trade position, and Wall street looks for an increase of more than 300,000 tons in the January unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation which will be made public on Friday. General Motors dividend action tomorrow also is awaited with considerable interest, although the final quarter's earnings will not be available until the middle of the month.

Montgomery-Ward continued its sensational advance by souring nearly 6 points to another new high record at 147½. Consolidated Gas jumped more than 4 points to a new top at 124¾. United States Industrial Alcohol crossed 112 to the highest price in seven years. Coppers moved forward under the leadership of Kennecott.

Two theories were advanced for the recent weakness of Freeport Texas, one that liquidation was based on an unfavorable report on the life of the property, and the other that it represented the forced liquidation of a large block of stock. Freeport, Greene Cananea and Vanadium Steel all rallied 3 to 4 points from their earlier high levels. United States Steel common and General Motors also were prominent in the afternoon recovery.

MR. FRISBY COMES OUT AGAINST DOCKING HORSES' TAILS

Above picture shows Congressman's free clinic, where he docks farm horses' tails free for the poor. His anti-docking bill is aimed only at "dudes" and "smart alecks" who dock horses' tails for appearances.

By Congressman Frisby.

WASHINGTON—So long as there are horse flies I will fight against docking horses' tails, without fear or favor.

This does not mean I will oppose docking farmers' horses' tails, as it gives the horses a natty appearance.

Besides, if we do not dock horses' tails there will be a shortage of horse hair, which will increase the cost of horse hair watch chains to the masses.

What a muddle an alienist would be in if he didn't know whether he was being paid by the prosecution or the defense.

Defense Attorney—Tell me, Professor, what first convinced you that the defendant was suffering from dementia praecox?

Alienist—I noticed a mole on his ear.

Cross-Examination.

Prosecutor—But, professor, is it not a fact that you have a mole on your own ear?

Alienist—Yes, sir. That's what led me to the conclusion that the defendant was crazy, too.

ON "THE GLAMOR OF LOVE"

Women, In LOVE, usually look
To men for MASTERY,
And men, it seems, look to
Women for MYSTERY—and
Both are LUCKY these days
If they can FIND it,
BEFORE marriage, of course.
Most men think they are STRONG
And masterful, and some
Deliberately LOOK for women
To MASTER them, but goodness
Knows what HAPPENS to them
Afterward. Women, naturally,
Never make the MISTAKE of
Looking to men for MYSTERY,
Because they know men
HAVEN'T got any. Yet the
More MASTERFUL a man is
The more EASILY a woman sees
THROUGH him, yet she
Invariably PRETENDS she can
See nothing, which is very
MYSTERIOUS to any sane man,
Women who want to MASTER
A man instead of LETTING him
Master them, generally make a
Mistake, for in ROBBING a man
Of his MASTERY a woman loses
All MYSTERY, and naturally
Robs love of its GLAMOR.

BUGS BAER Says

IF YOU hear shooting, police whistles and the sound of a falling body, do not be alarmed.

It is merely a campaign manager introducing delegates.

The political semester has arrived. Kansas City gets the Republicans and Houston the Democrats.

There will be no third party this year. So Wilkes-Barre is safe.

Optimistic Missourians were hoping that Kansas City would lose the Republican convention. But the town has guaranteed 4,000 rooms and gets the two-lunged circus.

Houston got the Democratic rodeo much easier. All that town had to guarantee was 4,000 microphones.

We can't see what a delegate wants with a hotel room when he is always in the lobby.

But he probably wants some privacy while he is changing his badges.

Of all the light spring candidates, Mr. Hoover seems to be the first to get his leaves above ground. He acquired considerable publicity when the White House spokesman referred to him as President Hoover.

It may have been a skid of the tongue. But the wish is the hen that lays the egg.

And while Hoover admits there is many a slip between the cup and the lip, that doesn't stop a guy from drinking out of the saucer.

Herbert admits that the White House spokesman was wrong about one thing. Not the title. Only the date.

In the meantime Herbert is in the same fix with the woman who knew it was a lie but wanted to hear it again.

If he hears it on November 12, it is true and he can stuff his Thanksgiving turkey with congratulatory telegrams.

But first he will have to run the gantlet at Kansas City, where every aisle will be a non-classified detour for stampeding delegates.

For every white light burning in the window there are two red lamps burning at the exits.

And we advise Herbert not to have his visiting cards printed nor his line monogramed until the first Wednesday after the first Tuesday after the fifty-seventh ballot.

Wicked Waste of Oil

Must Be Brought to End.

Nothing in the country is more important than the quiet deliberations of the Committee of Nine, assembled by the government to prepare Federal legislation to stop the wicked waste of the country's oil resources.

If we can get intelligent legislation anywhere, we ought to get it from this group, with three representatives from the government, three from the petroleum industry and three from the American Bar Association.

Already we hear from the committee's chairman, Prof. Henry M. Bates, of the University of Michigan, that "the oil operators themselves are anxious to have such permissible legislation as would reduce the waste of oil and natural gas."

He explains that enormous quantities of natural gas are lost through the action of indiscreet oil operators who permit this gas to be "lost in the air" through improper methods of extraction.

The engineers employed by the oil operators know exactly how to solve the present problem. Technically, it is very simple. It means nothing more or less than compulsory co-operative action for economical use of the gas pressure in each new field, so that this gas pressure will be used for cheaply raising the oil to the surface, instead of being "lost in the air."

This co-operative action will automatically cut down the present excess in production. We shall have an end to the [illegible] of producing more oil than we can currently use. There [illegible] end to the present ruination of the finances of the oil [illegible]s. And, finally, oil can be produced more cheaply than it is produced today, for it can be more cheaply raised by gas pressure than by pumping. Also, more oil can be got out of the ground than by the present method.

Of course, permission to co-operate and eventually restrict production must be accompanied by government regulation of prices. Otherwise the reduction of supply would boost prices at the very time that production costs were reduced.

All these elements are no doubt being kept in mind by the Committee of Nine. The public will eagerly await their recommended legislation.

Who Pays Is the Boss

The Internal Revenue Department in Washington, in charge of income tax collections, has just decided an age-old problem as to who is the head of the house. The filling out of tax blanks makes it necessary for somebody to claim that honor.

The ruling is that the one who pays the bills is the head of the house. Well, he may be, but in most cases he will have a terrible time establishing the fact at home.

Who Eats the Sweets?

A survey made by the United States Department of Commerce shows that in 1926 Americans ate more than a billion pounds of candy, and paid $258,251,562 for it.

There is one puzzling thing about the immense and increasing consumption of candy. Women, traditional lovers of sweets, aren't supposed to look a chocolate cream in the face in these days of slender figures. Who eats it all?

Temporary Foolishness

Frederick Comes Out of Hiding.

PRUSSIA'S GREAT KING VISIBLE ONCE MORE IN WASHINGTON.

One foolish thing in the big war was the decision to take down Frederick the Great's statue in Washington and hide it out of sight. It would have been just as sensible to take down and hide a statue of Goethe, Schiller or Beethoven because we were fighting Germany.

Frederick the Great now is back in his old place in front of the War College at Washington, where he belongs. He was a great student and exponent of the science of war. He never fought us; on the contrary, he sent most politely, a fine sword to Washington, whom he looked upon as one of the greatest of soldiers—as well he might.

This country should have been too big in its thoughts to think of hiding Frederick away because we happened to be at war with the little worn-out, run-down tail end of Frederick's Hohenzollern family.

This old Prussian king was a thinker, a democrat at heart, although he excepted himself from his ideas of democracy and fought for "Kingship," which he said "is my trade." He did as much as any king to encourage science, literature and learning generally.

However, he is out in the bright sunshine once more, and that piece of hysterical war foolishness is over.

A WELCOME DISH

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Could the Moon Blow Up?

THE curious suggestion—some would regard it as a startling one—that the moon may possibly blow up some fine day or evening is made by Professor R. D. Kleeman, of Schenectady, in a communication to Science.

Professor Kleeman is not seeking for a sensation in making this suggestion; it has grown as a possible logical conclusion from his experiments and calculations on the effects to be expected from the lowering of the temperature of compressed substances to absolute zero. It is to be remarked that scientists have never been able to reach absolute zero in any experiments of this kind, however hard they try. They get quite close down to it—within two or three degrees, say—but then the obstacles interposed by nature hold them off. In view of Professor Kleeman's suggestion it might be thought that nature is here acting like a cautious mother; these enthusiastically curious children may be playing with some of her concealed dynamite, and she has to keep an eye on them.

Professor Kleeman believes there is reason for saying that "If a substance is lowered in temperature to the absolute zero it may not finally be in a condensed and vaporous phase at zero pressure. A further change at T — O will therefore have to take place before its internal energy is zero." But a change of internal energy at zero temperature appears as external work; hence, under these conditions, the substance will become unstable at zero temperature and exert a pressure. But after expansion due to this pressure "it will finally end in the condensed state under zero vapor pressure when its internal energy is zero."

Theoretically, it has been shown that white tin should behave in this way at zero temperature, and should develop while expanding an average pressure of 3,000 atmospheres. "Thus," says Professor Kleeman, "certain substances may act like an explosive at or near the absolute zero of temperature," and he winds up with this corollary:

"This result has an interesting astronomical aspect. Dark bodies in interstellar space which are losing more heat than they receive, eventually sink in temperature to near the absolute zero, and then may possibly get unstable and explode. This may conceivably happen to our moon some day if it radiates more heat than it receives and has compounds in its composition possessing this property."

Some astronomers think that the little planets, called asteroids, of which at least a thousand circulate around the sun beyond the orbit of Mars, may have been formed by the explosion of a relatively large planet (much smaller, however, than the moon), and this theory is apparently supported by the fact that several of these bolies are of irregular shape, like fragments. It has been calculated, too, that if the asteroids did originate by explosion there must have been several subsequent explosions of the original fragments. This may or may not be consistent with Professor Kleeman's idea that a body approaching absolute zero of temperature may automatically blow up.

Suppose the moon should blow up; what would be the consequences to the earth? The moon's mass is about one-eightieth that of the earth and it is a little more than 240,000 miles away. If it blew itself into a thousand pieces, one of them might by chance hit the earth, but the probability is that all would miss it and fall into orbits around the sun. Nevertheless, some of the moon bits might eventually intersect the earth's orbit in such circumstances as to be brought down in the form of big meteors and fireballs—relics of Diana dethroned, to be displayed in our halls of learning, fast diminishing in number, alas, where the classics are still cultivated and mythology yet stands beautiful among the muses.

Americans Ahoy!

IN ENGLAND a proposed cruise by air to last 55 days and include France, Spain, North Africa and Italy has been postponed for lack of customers.

The jaunt is to cost $2,250 for each of 12 persons. The promoters naively explain that lack of bookings is due to a dearth of rich Americans abroad at this season.

Here's the last word in luxurious and exclusive travel. Only Americans, apparently, of all the people in the world, have the price to pay for it. "Richest nation" is no empty phrase, as this little incident shows.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

A Day of Sunshine

A PITFALL lurks, a chasm yawns
Through shadows grim and gray
Until a day of sunshine dawns
And shines them all away.

A day of blue and cloudless skies
With wind as sweet as wine,
When Earth in stainless splendor lies
And all its joys are mine

So to my doubting heart I say
When shadows creep again,
"The sun will shine them all away,
All loneliness, all pain.

"They cannot, then, be half so true
As your dark fancies deem
If on a day of cloudless blue
They flee the sunlight's beam."

Tales That Are Told

Waiting

NEPHEW: "Uncle, when are you going to play football again?"

Rich Uncle: "I don't play football. What makes you ask me that question?"

"Well, father says when you kick off we are going to get a motor-car and a house."

One of the Give-Aways

MRS. BROWN: "My husband is one of the most generous of men."

Mrs. Hobbs: "That's nice."

"Yes; I gave him a box of cigars for his birthday, and he's given them all away to his friends. He hasn't smoked a single one himself."

Jealousy

"HALLO, Alf," cried a laborer, meeting a companion on the tramcar. "They tell me you've lost your job again."

"So I have," retorted his friend. "The foreman's jealous of me."

"Jealous?"

"Yes," said the sacked one. "You know a foreman does nothing but stand about and watch the others work?"

"I know it, Alf."

"Well, that's why he was jealous, mate," murmured Alf. "You see, somehow people would think I was the foreman!"

Admitted

MR. MARTIN was talking at the dinner table in his usual manner about the inconsistency of woman.

"These girls who protest they are never going to marry!" he broke out. "Everybody knows they will belie their own words at the first opportunity."

He paused, and evidently hoped that Mrs. Martin would come to the rescue of her sex. But that discreet woman held her tongue.

"Why, Mary," he continued, "you remember how it was with yourself. I have heard you say more than once that you wouldn't marry the best man alive."

"Well, I didn't," said Mrs. Martin.

AND ANOTHER day came.
AND I had occasion.
TO PASS her house.
AND NATURALLY.
I WAS curious.
AND LOOKED at the porch.
AS I passed by.
* * *
BUT NO one was there.
AND I went on.
AND ONCE again.
THERE CAME a whistle.
THAT COULDN'T have come.
AS I said before.
FROM ANYWHERE.
BUT THAT front porch.
AND I said to myself.
IT WAS someone I knew.
JUST KIDDING me.
AND I walked a short distance.
AND THEN returned.
AND AS I approached.
SOMEONE WHISTLED again.
AND FROM the angle.
AT WHICH I looked.
I SAW quite clearly.
* * *
IT WAS a parrot.
AND I felt so foolish.
HAVING BOWED to the lady.
A FEW days before.
THAT I hurried right on.
I THANK you.

Alcoholism

IN ANNOUNCING for 1927 the largest mortality from chronic alcoholism in any year since the advent of Volsteadism, Health Commissioner Harris, of New York, casts about for an adequate explanation, but does not find one.

Yet there is one, a very plain one. It is simply that Prohibition has failed.

STARS AND STRIPES

The tendency of Congress is to bar all war talk, shop talk and plain talk, and confine itself entirely to loose talk.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—In the old days most newspapermen ended up as puttering old men in charge of the "morgue"—the reference department—sorting and filing today's news for future use. They usually began as office boys and completed the cycle, ending practically where they started.

It was a glamorous job with a dull finish. Outside of New York, 20 years ago, $15 a week was top salary for the reporter. The average wage was $25. Today there are innumerable prominent men in all walks of life privileged to say, "I used to be a newspaperman once, myself."

Newspapermen, more than any other profession I know, have smashed barriers that tended to herd them off to inevitable mediocrity. They have acquired a stubborn resistance to the old accepted formula, "once a newspaperman, always a newspaperman."

If, after a few years, they see no hope of promotion they leave it. They refuse to be ground down to the irreducible minimum and take a seat in a faraway corner cutting "fillers" from exchanges. The newspaper job has become a real stepping stone.

Those who do not rise to star reporters or executives, find a hundred or more avenues for expression of their talents. Even if they are not crack writers, but have developed keen news sense, they are often able to step into $60-a-week press agent jobs.

Practically all high-priced magazine editors today were graduated from the newspaper shop. It is no exaggeration that more than half the successful short story writers and novelists were reporters.

The best stuff in the theater—three reigning hits at present—are products of the guild. Top executives, the highest priced scenarioists and title writers in the movies spring from the same source. To say nothing of several bankers, industrial magnates and a sprinkling of diplomatists. It is not so tough to be a newspaperman, after all.

The big movie houses have inaugurated a bid for patronage that has during the past few months, gained popularity. They offer a Sunday symphonic concert beginning at 11:30 a. m. and lasting one hour. It is a movieless program. Just music. But those who wish may remain without further charge for the first regular program of the day.

The cinema castles, however, are losing patronage by the unnecessary greed of herding people into roped spaces and forcing them to stand until seats are available. In most instances these people have been told by outside flunkies seats were plentiful. People who pay for seats in this fashion and do not get them are victims of a gyppery. And no business can flourish on gyppery—look at the night clubs. That is, if there are any left.

Another movie irritation is the custom of ushers jockeying people into the worst seats when there are plenty of first-class seats available. I notice, incidentally, that movie patrons are not so meek as they once were. There is a stored-up wrath over these injustices that frequently results in an explosion and a marine trained usher gets first hand information that his "ushing" is not as grand as his uniform.

There are various subleties for winning applause on the stage. One is to have it announced the performer is a long way from home—London or San Francisco—and is naturally anxious to make good. New York is very responsive to that. Another is to take a bow carrying a banjo or violin. This creates a belief the performer can be applauded into playing a tune.

Panpathy

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Panpathy is a word coined by the late Paul Carus, a compilation of whose writings by Catherine Cook lies before me.

It is a hard word, but it stands for a very real thing. We sometimes call it unselfishness or philanthropy or the love of God.

Perhaps the best synonym for it is love.

Love, Dr. Carus points out, is nothing but the law of gravitation in its moral application. As gravitation is inherent in every particle of matter it attracts in some measure every other particle.

So love is inherent in every soul, and if it be not thwarted draws it out into other souls.

Panpathy, says Dr. Carus, is our attachment to the All of existence.

It is that in us which reminds us to sacrifice ourselves for a great purpose and inspires us to do noble deeds.

It begets in man the enthusiasm for justice and right, and makes him indignant at wrong.

"Panpathy," he continues, "is the wrath in the bosom of the oppressed; it is the fear of vengeance paling the cheek of the tyrant. It speaks in the voice of the guilty conscience, and it is our comfort in affliction.

"Panpathy, in a word, is the quickening presence of the All in the heart of the individual."

This scientific language by a scientist is about something we all understand and experience.

We are attached to certain objects and persons.

Our supreme delight comes from association with these to such an extent that there is no punishment more to be feared than solitary confinement, and there is no individual more to be shunned than the confirmed egoist.

This is a good universe and we are good in proportion as we allow its current free play in us.

This is so true that love has been called the fulfilling of the law.

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

Why Babies?

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN still holds the belt as the champion of American wise men, and even makes the much-married Solomon look to his crown.

This top-heavy gentleman was once asked the question, "What is the use of ballooning?" And he replied:

"What's the use of a baby?"

Inasmuch as it is possible to be famous without being wise, it might be well for us to supplement our Hall of Fame on the storied Hudson, with a Hall of American Magi on the romantic Potomac. And as a start I should nominate Franklin, Emerson and Whitman. But let's go back and watch that baby.

Franklin had a peer in England, who was his contemporary, Dr. Samuel Johnson. The great lexicographer had all of the colossal proportions of the author of "Poor Richard's Almanac," except his wisdom.

And Johnson proffered his comment on ballooning by saying:

"In amusement, mere amusement, I am afraid it must end, for I do not find that its course can be directed so as that it should serve any purposes of communication; and it can give no new intelligence of the state of the air at different heights, till they have ascended above the height of mountains, which they seem never likely to do."

Let Conan Doyle seek out the world's best medium to bring back Franklin and Johnson, and let them ride with Lindbergh from Philadelphia to London and over the Alps and Rockies. All the world would be spectators and the two Magi would get the thrill of their eternity.

All this with the presumption that Johnson would consent to be a party to such a program, for he loved the Americans about as much as Wall Street loves a Bolshevik.

Hats off, then, to Franklin for his long vision. To him the first balloon was like the first baby. Both were prospective. Some day the baby might be a Shakespeare of a Croesus or a Pericles. And the balloon might evolve into a miracle.

Long-headed invention always laughs last. His is the smile on the face of the tiger. We begin to stand in awe of him and his abilities because the only tricks he hasn't turned are the transmutation of mud pies into gold nuggets, perpetual motion and the creation of life from inanimate substances.

But give him time.

Once Overs

Vacation

PERHAPS when you have consulted a physician about a chronic state you can take a month's vacation without fear of losing your job.

You feel that your usual two weeks off is not sufficient time for you to get the rest you think you need.

In the picture your mind draws, you see yourself at some enjoyable spot getting a real rest.

But would you really rest if you had a whole month?

There are so many places you want to see and visit and distances are so great that your tours are measured in miles by the time you have to be away.

Would it be different if your vacation were longer?

Would you be satisfied to relax and rest or would you consider it as more time to see more places?

Would you seek the necessary quiet or would you be more worn out because of the usual thing that you do in the way of pleasure-seeking on that annual vacation of yours?
